6 DIE IN U-K LANDSLIP, MORE TRAPPED UNDER RUBBLE

Hillock comes down sweeping away hotel, several vehicles, part of four-lane highway

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS
@ Shirur (Uttara Kannada)

MORE than 12 people were feared trapped under the rubble after a massive landslide at Shirur near Ankola on Karwar-Kumta Road (NH 66) on Tuesday morning. Among them, five are said to be members of a family, who ran a hotel on the highway.

By evening, six bodies were recovered from the Gangavalli river below the highway. Four bodies have been identified as Lakshman Bommaiah Naik, 45, hotel owner, his wife Shanti Lakshman Naik, their son Roshan, and truck driver Chinnannan.

Lakshman Naik's daughter Avanthika Lakshman Naik, 6, their relative Upendra Naik, 50, and Jaganath Naik, 49, and Sanni Hanumantha Gouda, 65, were among those feared trapped under the rubble.

A tanker stuck on NH66 following the landslide in Shirur on Tuesday

An entire hillock slid on the highway near Belase village adjacent to Kodasani bridge at Shirur around 8 am following heavy rain. The hotel on the highway and several vehicles, including a fuel tanker, were swept away.

According to eyewitnesses, the hillock came down all of a sudden and swept away the hotel, several vehicles and part of the four-lane highway. "A car was moving on this stretch when the landslide took place. We don't know whether the driver and others in the car managed to escape," said Raju, whose truck lay buried under the rubble.

A FRANTIC SEARCH

A stray dog which was adopted by Lakshman Naik, the hotel owner, was seen howling and frantically searching for its owner and his family members amid heavy rain and slush at the spot where the landslide took place at Shirur on Tuesday.

According to Raju, at least four trucks and two fuel tankers were parked near the hotel when the hillock came down. "Truck drivers usually stop here for tea," he said.

Residents of Shirur and Belase blamed a private company that built the highway for the landslide. "Unscientific construction work led to this disaster. The engineers of the company did not cut the hillock scientifically," Purushottam Naik, a relative of Lakshman said.

'Soil chemistry studies must for infra projects'

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

TUESDAY'S landslide near Ankola on Karwar-Kumta road in which around 12 people are feared buried, has raised serious concerns.

In the background of unprecedented and incessant rain and poor civil works, experts, geologists and civil engineers caution that unless required do not use the ghat roads till the monsoon ends.

They say while taking up infrastructure works, various government and private agencies do mere soil testing, but do not conduct soil chemistry studies.

An expert from Indian Institute of Science (IISc) recollected a conversation with a government official: "One of the engineers asked whether such a study is required, because it is not mentioned in their list of parameters. Soil testing is the only parameter given importance." CONTINUED ON: P5

POST NEET SCAM

Panel gets 37,000 suggestions for revamp of NTA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

CLEAR guidelines on grace marks, what rules will apply in case of any lapse during examinations, proper communication about change in schedules, and infrastructure checks at exam centres are among the 37,000-odd suggestions received by the high-level panel tasked to review the functioning of the National Testing Agency (NTA).

The government-appointed panel, headed by former ISRO chief R Radhakrishnan, received suggestions from a cross-section of stakeholders including students, parents, coaching institutions, school teachers, academic institutions, and even career counsellors.

The Centre had formed the panel after controversies erupted over the conduct of the NEET-UG exam, including paper leak allegations, and arbitrary award of grace marks. The panel has been tasked with recommending reforms in the examination process, enhancing data security protocols and reviewing the structure and operations of the NTA. It has two months to file its report.

Bulk of the suggestions came from students, who expressed concerns about several aspects of the examination process. Key issues highlighted include the need for clear guidelines regarding grace marks and examination centre infrastructure. Some suggestions called for eliminating the normalisation process altogether, while others requested greater transparency to prevent score inflation or reduction. Normalisation is the method by which the NTA calculates the percentile of for each candidate by comparing their raw marks with other candidates in the same session.

EIGHT days after five soldiers were gunned down in an ambush on their convoy in Kathua, four Army men, including a Captain, were killed in an overnight gunfight with militants in the mountainous Doda district of Jammu and Kashmir.

Jammu-based defence spokesman Lt Colonel Suneel Bartwal said a joint operation was launched by Army and J&K Police at Dhari Gote Urarbagi in Desa forest area in Doda district on Monday evening after receiving inputs about the presence of a group of militants there.

"The search party established contact with the hiding militants in the forest area around 8.40 pm. In the militant firing, a Captain and three soldiers were injured," he said, adding there was a brief exchange of gunfire.

All the injured were evacuated to military hospital, where they succumbed to injuries.

The deceased were identified as Captain Brijesh Thapa, Naik D Rajesh, sepoy Bijendra and sepoy Ajay.

The militants, taking advantage of low visibility and the thickly forested and mountainous area, managed to escape after the encounter.

"Additional troops and equipment have been inducted to track down the terrorists. Drones and other technical resources are being used to pinpoint their movement," Lt Col Bartwal said.

Sources said the elite para commandos have also joined the search operations, assisting the troops on the ground.

"It is suspected that a group of four-five militants are hiding in the forest area. There has been no fresh contact with the militants after the initial gunfight," they said.

Doda is one of the heavily forested hilly districts in the Jammu region. Militants are making concerted efforts to shift their operations to the Jammu region from Kashmir. About 50 foreign militants are said to be operating in the Jammu region.

J&K Lt Governor Manoj Sinha condemned the attack, adding "We will avenge the death of our soldiers and thwart the evil designs of terrorists and their associates." P9

CAPT FOLLOWED THE CALL OF DUTY, SAYS PROUD DAD

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

"BRIJESH spoke to me last Sunday, July 14, at 9.30 am. He said he had just come down (from the higher reaches where militants are holed up) and that he has been asked to go back to the hills following an intelligence input. He said he would be leaving soon and I asked him to be careful," Col Bhuwanesh Thapa, father of Captain Brijesh Thapa who died in a gunfight with terrorists in J&K's Doda district on Monday night, told this newspaper over telephone.

Col Thapa learnt about the loss of his son at 10.45 pm on Monday from the Army. "The CO called me and said that Brijesh fought well but unfortunately we lost him. As a former Army officer and father I always stressed upon Brijesh on how to operate in insurgency-hit areas each time he spoke to me," the distraught but proud father said.

> The terrain is difficult but when there is an intel input, an Army officer has to go. In the Army, things can go wrong
>
> Col Bhuwanesh Thapa

"I am proud of Brijesh. He fought from the front and gave up his life for the country. He didn't run away. It's a hard climb of six to seven hours, where they had to go up," said Col Thapa.

Brijesh is survived by his parents and an elder sister. "He was born in the military hospital in Jalandhar in January 1997. He had applied for short service commission (SSC) and joined the Army as an officer in September 2019 after completing BTech in computer science," he added. Capt Brijesh's mortal remains will be brought on Wednesday to his hometown Darjeeling.

Hate speech: Spl court junks plaint against PM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Special Court for Elected Representatives in the city on Tuesday rejected a private complaint filed against Prime Minister Narendra Modi for his alleged hate speech during BJP's LS poll campaign in Rajasthan recently.

Ziaurrahaman Nomani, who claims to be a human rights activist, had moved the 42nd Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate (ACMM) Court, urging it to take cognisance of the offence under Sections 153A, 153B, 295A, 503, 504 and 505(2) of the IPC or refer the matter for investigation by the local police.

The court, which had reserved its order for Tuesday, rejected the complaint stating that it is "not a fit case to refer for investigation".

The complainant contended that Modi tried to divide the nation based on religion by stating that mangalsutras of women will be taken away and given to members of a particular community if Congress comes to power. "The PM also termed the community members as intruding usurpers," the complainant's advocate argued.

BBMP, transport dept, police must solve traffic issues together: HM

1,194 stretches identified as 'no-parking roads', yet, vehicles parked on both sides: Parameshwara

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

HOME Minister G Parameshwara said parking in Bengaluru has become a menace and there is a need for a comprehensive Parking Policy in the city. "In order to get a permanent solution, we will discuss it with the BBMP and Transport department," Parameshwara said.

He said, in Bengaluru, 1,194 stretches have been identified as 'no parking roads', and yet, vehicles are parked on either side of the road, because there is no infrastructure created for parking these vehicles. BBMP and the transport department should co-ordinate with police to reduce this problem in the city," he added.

He was answering to Yelahanka MLA SR Vishwanath's question on parking woes in Bengaluru, in the Assembly on Tuesday.

He said, "There is a need to discuss the parking related woes. We can incorporate rules like, the Corporation giving approval to the construction of new residences only if the owner earmarks space for parking. These changes cannot be brought about the Home Department alone," he added.

When BJP members said penalties are not levied for wrong parking, the minister said, in 2022, the Bangalore Traffic Police registered over 12 lakhs cases and Rs 20.84 crore penalty was collected. In 2023, the 11.30 lakhs cases were registered, and Rs 37 Crore was collected. In 2024, 5.97 lakh cases have been registered till June alone, for which Rs 5.97 crore penalty has already been collected.

Home Minister also mentioned that, in order to get a better control of the traffic, earlier they had directed senior police officials including DCP (Traffic), ACP (Traffic) and others to supervise for two hours in a day. "Bengaluru traffic has been in news even in the international media." he noted.

Rajajinagar MLA Suresh Kumar said that to deal with Bengaluru traffic, there needs to be two plans - short and long term. He also urged Home Minister to constitute committee with Bengaluru MLAs to deal with the problem.

BBMP officials says they have filled the potholes. But visit the same stretch next day, and there will be pothole again. The BBMP's report is misleading,

'Discrimination' in grants: DKS to meet city MLAs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AFTER BJP MLAs from Bengaluru created ruckus in the Assembly for facing discrimination over grants for their constituencies, Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar said that a special meeting with Bengaluru MLAs will be called on July 27 in Bengaluru, to discuss various issues related to Bengaluru.

Leader of Opposition and Padmanabhanagar MLA R Ashoka said that he is seeing potholes everyday. "BBMP officials says they have filled the potholes. But visit the same stretch next day, and there will be pothole again. The BBMP's report is misleading," he said. He also questioned why the BJP MLAs are not given grants. "There are 16 BJP MLAs elected from Bengaluru, none of them have got any grants. You cannot make Brand Bengaluru with just few Assembly constituencies in Bengaluru," he added.

Jayanagar MLA CK Ramamurthy who raised the question about Brand Bengaluru, said that on one side, the government is talking about Brand Bengaluru and on the other side they are talking of Greater Bengaluru. "But when it comes to grants, constituencies represented by BJP MLAs were not given grants. Does our (BJP MLA constituencies) not come under Brand Bengaluru?" he questioned.

Ramamurthy pointed out that official reports of BBMP says they have identified 16,202 potholes in the city, of which, only 516 potholes are left to be closed. "Officials are misleading you," he said, and added that by simply taking up white topping works, or tunnel roads projects on which the government want to spends crores, one cannot build the Brand Bengaluru. There is a need to stress on improving basic facilities and amenities across the city, to build the brand.

Rajajinagar MLA Suresh Kumar said that there is no co-ordination among the different civic agencies in Bengaluru. "While one department makes road, other digs to lay pipe. This problem has been there for a long time," he said. In order to sort it out, constitute a task force at thr Assembly level, with officials from BBMP, BWSSB, BDA, Bescom and other civic agencies, and also another task force at the district level.

Replying to them, Shivakumar said that he will convene a meeting with all MLAs representing Bengaluru Assembly constituencies, to discuss various issues including solid waste management, roads, drinking water, sewage and issues pertaining to Bengaluru.

Let kids pick adv, basic maths in SSLC: Panel

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A committee formed to improve education in state board schools with various experts and stakeholders has raised serious concerns over the curriculum, exam pattern, poor SSLC results and government saving face with grace marks.

During a round table on Monday, the committee discussed the overhauling needed in state board schools. Key highlights included the need for a curriculum that is on par with other boards, like ICSE and CBSE, implementation of the National Curriculum Framework (NCF), creation of a similar pattern along the lines of the National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT) and changing the syllabus for maths and science.

It suggested that students should be given the option to select either Standard Math or Basic Math at the secondary level to improve their scores. Experts also discussed strategies to improve teacher training, curriculum development and student assessment.

D Shashikumar, Secretary, Associated Managements of Primary and Secondary Schools (KAMS), said the curriculum needs improvement and the implementation of NCERT curriculum is necessary for pre-primary and primary students.

"A balance between state and national curriculum is pivotal, and the state government should take necessary steps to do that," he said. Infrastructure in state board schools, especially government institutions, needs to be improved, he added.

NAAC conducts workshops for new accreditation rules

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AFTER the Union government gave its nod for reforms in the accreditation of Higher Educational Institutes (HEIs) in January this year, the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC) on Tuesday will be going ahead with the reforms in two phases: Binary Accreditation and Maturity-Based Graded Levels. This means that NAAC will do away with grades — switching to the method where either the HEIs have accreditation or do not.

Currently, NAAC is conducting five regional workshops to gather nationwide feedback from universities and colleges on the binary accreditation manual, before its official launch in the upcoming months.

The first workshop for the Southern region was held at the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) in Bengaluru on Tuesday, where 800 academics including Vice-Chancellors, Principals, quality assurance cell coordinators, and faculty members from all southern states participated.

Addressing the participants, former Chairperson of the National Council for Vocational Education and Training, Nirmaljeet Singh Kalsi, highlighted the need to include skill development as part of the accreditation framework. He also spoke about the National Curriculum Framework (NCF) and its relevance to skill development.

He added that there is a need to integrate skills in disciplines such as humanities and social science and proposed Education 5.0 which focuses on online and blended learning.

PETER VIDAL

17TH July : It's our third day looking at Taurus. Taureans have a reputation for being pleasant, good-natured people. Actually, it's not always so. They can lose their tempers! However, the good thing about them is that they are usually easily placated. Their natural state is one of goodwill to all people.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Behind the scenes, quiet diplomacy could have favourable conse-quences. It may be time to reveal unknown aspects of your recent behaviour and stun unsuspecting collea-gues with your better qualities. If you are shifting your professional direction, how about considering something in the charitable line?

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
A major plan is coming to fruition and, assuming you've gained partners' approval, you can look forward to the future with a fair degree of optimism. Your old-fashio-ned attitudes will charm your friends and could open the door to a new romance - or help you revive a flagging relationship.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Your most important objec-tives will become clearer from now on, despite the threat of a silly confrontation this morning. Come to firm decisions based on an accurate appraisal of all the facts, and continue to keep a close eye on your finances.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Social indications remain promising and casual contacts may have helpful consequences on your professional life or family arrangements. However, you must guard against today's overall risk of muddle and confusion - the Full Moon is broadly suppor-rtive but it is still too easy to give in to complacency.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
If you've been pondering secret plans, it will soon be time to take the initiative and make these public. The moment for open action has not yet arrived, however, and discretion may still be the best course. You will gain from joint investments, but you do need to see that they are absolutely and totally guaranteed.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
The Moon supports your sign, presenting you with a number of emotional challenges, most of them profoundly positive. You may be called away from home quite soon. If so, the cause is more likely to be the fulfilment of some deeply- held, long-term ambition, rather than routine concerns. In any event, the tide is flowing your way.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Mercury is now sufficiently at home in your chart to be feeding you some of the best ideas and plans around. By all means work hard at promoting yourself and raising your profile at work or in social activities, but this is not the time to expect final decisions. Instead, you should attempt to extend your range of operations.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There's a distinct mood of uncertainty today, although you may be unaware that anything strange is afoot until you try to firm up agreements or commit associates to arrangements. The fact that the Moon aligns with emotional zones in your chart might encourage you to embark on a romantic adventure. Don't expect too much, too soon.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The Moon shows the way ahead and whatever you do today will bring a massive pay-off sooner than you think. In the meantime, your social commitments are at least partially responsible for steadily mounting expenses, and that's precisely why it's within your power to reduce your overheads. Mild scepticism will help you deal with hare-brained schemes.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Today's sensitive planetary pattern resonates nicely with your own horoscope, although you might misunderstand friends' intentions or behaviour. Keep a sense of realism well to the fore and remember that impulsive decisions may make sense today but will seem foolish by next week.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Your tendency to hang on to the past is now a potent force in your life, even if you still believe yourself to be a forward-looking go-getter. You must try to be flexible in all matters requiring agreement with colleagues - especially if money is involved.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There are some people who expect you to look after them but it really is time they realised that you have your own needs to take care of. With the Moon falling deep in the heart of your chart, it's the moment to let people know exactly what you're feeling. You can no longer allow partners to treat you like a doormat.

DAY 1: COPS CREATE AWARENESS ON LANE DISCIPLINE ON KIA ROAD

TNIE's visit finds lack of signage, awareness, hurry to reach KIA major reasons for violation

RAKSHITH GOWDA @ Bengaluru

ON the first day of enforcing lane discipline on the Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) road, a majority of vehicles on the road were found flouting the rules. The New Indian Express travelled on the airport stretch and found that violations were occurring due to multiple reasons — lack of lane discipline signage on the stretch, lack of awareness among drivers and vehicles heading towards the airport being in a hurry to reach the destination.

While slow-moving trucks were supposed to stick to the left lane, many were seen randomly using the centre and extreme right lanes, slowing down other vehicles and, in some instances, causing traffic jams with no space for other vehicles to overtake. At the same time, motorists and other four-wheelers were mindlessly zigzagging between lanes, disrupting traffic. It was also observed that hardly any vehicles put indicators while changing lanes, confusing drivers behind.

After announcing penalties for lane violations on Airport Road, traffic police regulate vehicular movement on Hebbal Main Road, on Tuesday | ALLEN EGGENUSE J

On day one, the traffic police, instead of directly slapping fines, were seen creating awareness about lane discipline among road users. They observed approaching vehicles by standing at around 500 metre away and stopped heavy goods trucks that were driving on central and extreme right lanes. The vehicle owners were asked as to why they were driving on those lanes, and were made aware of the problems of traffic jams. Slow-moving trucks that were moving on lanes other than the left were booked under Section 177 of IMV Act.

A senior police officer said they will book more cases after creating awareness, adding that they are currently booking only lane discipline violations for truck drivers on the highways on the outskirts of the city. "Many vehicles travelling on KIA road face difficulties due to heavy goods vehicles on every lane. In the coming days, the Peenya traffic police will begin the drive near Tumakuru Road (Bengaluru-Pune Highway)," he said. The police will later book vehicles for over-speeding and overtaking from the left.

In all, 21 cases were booked on Tuesday, with Devanahalli and Chikkajala traffic police booking 10 and 11 cases, respectively. Yelahanka traffic police will begin their drive on Wednesday.

They conducted awareness campaigns by distributing pamphlets. They will install signage on the road informing drivers about following lane discipline and educating them.

Govt to incur ₹20K cr extra expenditure for govt staff salary hike

Basic, highest & lowest salaries, highest and lowest pensions too increased

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A day after the state cabinet approved an increase in salaries and pensions of present and former state government employees, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said in the Assembly on Tuesday that the government will incur Rs 20,208 crore per annum because of this decision. The provision for the salary revision has already been made in the budget presented for 2024-25, he added.

He said as per the recommendations of the 7th State Pay Commission, the salary, salary-related allowances and pensions of government employees will be revised with effect from August 1, 2024. "This includes a 31 per cent hike in Dearness Allowance (DA) and fitment of 27.50 per cent of the basic pay of employees as on July 1, 2022. This will increase the basic salary and pension of employees by 58.50 per cent. There will be an increase of 32 per cent in house rent allowance too," he said.

Explaining further, he said that by accepting the pay commission recommendation, the minimum basic pay of employees will increase from Rs 17,000 to Rs 27,000 and the maximum pay will be revised from Rs 1,50,600 to Rs 2,41,200. Similarly, the minimum pension of employees will be increased from Rs 8,500 to Rs 13,500 and the maximum pension will be revised from Rs 75,300 to Rs 1,20,600. "The revision will be applicable to non-teaching staff of universities, employees of aided educational institutions and local bodies," he pointed out.

He said the Seventh Pay Commission was constituted in November 2022 to address the demands for revision of pay, allowance and pensions. The commission submitted its report in March 2024.

The commission headed by former chief secretary K Sudhakar Rao had recommended a 27.5% increase on the basic pay of employees. The previous BJP government led by Basavaraj Bommai, had approved a 17% hike as interim relief. The state cabinet on Monday decided to add another 10.5% to make it 27.5% as recommended by the commission.

ST Corpn row: Uproar in Assembly, Ashoka seeks Siddu's resignation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE alleged multi-crore scam in the Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation Ltd continued to dominate the proceedings of the Assembly on Day 2 of the monsoon session of the legislature on Tuesday. The Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka said that Chief Minister Siddaramaiah should resign, taking moral responsibility.

Ashoka hit out at the Congress State Government over the SIT probe constituted to probe the alleged irregularities in the ST corporation. Comparing this SIT to the SIT investigating the allegations of sexual abuse against Prajwal Revanna, Ashoka said, "There is clear discrimination. While the SIT took immediate action in Prajwal's case, they took many weeks to send notice to former minister B Nagendra and Raichur Rural MLA to probe their role in the Valmiki Corporation scam."

In the probe involving Prajwal, the police team was at the former MP's residences in Bengaluru, Hassan, and Holenarsipur the very next day, Ashoka said. "The SIT issued notices to Bhavani Revanna and former BJP MLA Preetham Gowda, who had to approach court in fear. But in the ST Corporation case, the SIT has been set up as a namesake. No notices were sent to B Nagendra and MLA Daddal. After the BJP protested, they were made to sit before SIT for eight hours. The accused were all seen smiling. Why such discrimination?" Ashoka thundered.

Former law minister and BJP Rajajinagar MLA Suresh Kumar said the team that is probing the Prajwal case is SIT, and the one that is probing the Valmiki Corporation case is SSIT (Siddaramaiah, Shivakumar Investigation Team). After Congress members objected, Speaker expunged the remarks.

Continuing, Ashoka said ministers are the custodians of their respective departments, and they should have a hold on them. "Some ministers make surprise visits, a few neither surprise us nor make any visits. The ministers will work effectively when they think that taxpayers' money should not go to waste. On Monday, CM Siddaramaiah himself admitted that Rs 87 crore was misused in the Valmiki Corporation," Ashoka said.

Ashoka said the action plan to give money to ST beneficiaries was completed in September 2023. But the money did not reach beneficiaries, Ashoka alleged. "Neither the secretary nor other officials concerned conducted a review meeting to check if this money has reached the beneficiaries or not. The Statistics Department was supposed to furnish data to the chief secretary, but they too did not do it. The chief secretary too did not ask the officials to furnish the data," Ashok said.

He accused the State Government of diverting funds meant for the SCs and STs to Telangana. "You (Congress) will get the curse of the Valmiki community. If you don't want this, release the money of those beneficiaries," Ashoka said.

Chaos in Council after Ravi shows pic of DKS with tainted

The Council on Tuesday evening descended into chaos after BJP leader in the House CT Ravi showed a photograph of Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar with alleged "power broker" Yakkunti Nagaraj, who is said to be involved in the Valmiki Development Corporation Scam. Congress members, who too were prepared, responded by showing photos of BJP former minister Sriramulu with Nagaraj. Ravi and senior BJP leader Ravi Kumar shouted that the photograph proved Shivakumar's involvement in the scam. Congress leaders retorted saying Nagaraj is a BJP worker and is close to Ballari BJP leaders. As no business could be transacted, the chairman adjourned the House around 4.30 pm. The Upper House witnessed pandemonium on Monday and Tuesday too, with Ravi attacking the government. He raised several points, accusing the involvement of Congress functionaries in the scam. The government called a meeting three days ago to discuss ways to bury the case, he charged. To each of his charge, Congress members responded aggressively. BJP members should not forget that their previous government was a 40 percent sarkar, they said. But many Congressmen complained that Bose Raj is not aggressive enough and is not a good replacement for earlier House leader BK Hariprasad.

DADDAL UPDATES CM, DCM, SPEAKER, HOME MINISTER ON ED AFTER HIM

Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation Ltd Chairman Basanagouda Daddal, who is reportedly on the radar of the Directorate of Enforcement (ED), on Tuesday met CM Siddaramaiah, DyCM DK Shivakumar, Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara and Assembly Speaker UT Khader, sources said. He updated them about the developments of ED looking for him with regard to the alleged Rs 187-crore scam in the corporation, they added. Daddal, who is also Raichur Rural MLA, told reporters at Vidhana Soudha that ED has not issued any notice to him and if the investigation agency does so, he is ready to appear before it. "If the notice arrives, I will attend the investigation half-an-hour earlier. As an MLA. I cannot escape anywhere. I am taking part in the session today as I have taken an oath on the Constitution. I will speak to the media after all the investigation is over," he said.

'Scams happened in all SC/ST corps in 3-4 years'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

FORMER minister and Congress MLA PM Narendra Swamy, also the SC/ST welfare committee chairman, alleged on Tuesday that scams have occurred in all boards and corporations for SC/STs over the last 3-4 years. That includes Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribe Development Corporation, Bhovi Development Corporation and Tanda Development corporation, he said, urging CM Siddaramaiah to order a probe.

In the Assembly, he alleged that a multi-crore scam happened in the Bhovi Development Corporation in the previous BJP government and money was transferred into the bank account of former MLC Sunil Vallyalure's son Vinay, who has moved court for bail. "Many separate committees have resulted in the Finance Department failing to keep tabs on transactions. In the last 3-4 years, SC/STs have not been given benefits under welfare schemes," he said.

SCAM MONEY USED BY CONG TO FUND LS POLLS: BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ASSEMBLY on Tuesday witnessed chaotic scenes with former home minister Araga Jnanendra and Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda indulging in a spat over the issue of the alleged multi-crore scam in the Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Schedule Tribes Development Corporation Ltd. The legislators from the Opposition BJP alleged that the money was used by the Congress to fund the recent Lok Sabha elections. The Ruling Congress MLAs took a strong exception to this allegation.

When Jnanendra sought clarification from the government, as the Directorate of Enforcement had stated that money was spent on the polls, Byre Gowda intervened and sought proof for the allegation.

Jnanendra recalled instances from the past, including former CM Ramakrishna Hegde resigning after he was accused of a scam. "Siddarmaiah should follow that example," the former minister said. Byre Gowda hit back, as Jnanendra did not resign when the PSI recruitment scam surfaced in the previous BJP government when the latter was the home minister. There was a war of words between BJP MLAs, including Dr CN Ashwath Narayaran, and RDPR Minister Priyank Kharge, resulting in chaos. Jnanendra observed that Siddaramaiah has lost control of the government, including the Finance Department.

BJP Vijayapura City MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal said that the leaders in the Congress are conspiring to remove Siddaramaiah as CM. Earlier, the state BJP chief and Shikaripura MLA BY Vijeyendra lashed out at the State Government.

"Being a spectator to a murder is equal to committing the murder, and hence Siddaramaiah should resign from his post, shouldering moral responsibility as his government has meted out injustice to the Dalits," he said.

Cannot take names when probe is on: Parameshwara

Meanwhile, when Vijayendra took the names of the officials, Nagendra and corporation chairperson Basanagouda Daddal, Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara took a strong objection, saying that with three agencies—the CBI, ED and SIT— probing the matter, it was not right for a member to name others.

BJP MLA Sunil Kumar further attacked the Congress and sought to know whether the money spent on the LS polls in Ballari and Amethi. "Gali gali mein chor hai, Congress party chor hain," the BJP legislators shouted slogans.

CM to reply on Thursday?

As the session was adjourned to Thursday (Wednesday is a holiday on account of Muharram), Chief Minister Siddaramaiah is likely to reply to the allegations of the opposition on that day.

'TN should cooperate on Mekedatu'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Tuesday urged Tamil Nadu to cooperate with Karnataka on the Mekedatu Balancing Reservoir project. It will help Tamil Nadu more than Karnataka, he said. "The water stored in the Mekedatu reservoir helps us release water in a timely manner to Tamil Nadu. There are Kannadigas, Tamilians, and Andhrites in Bengaluru, and drinking water from the project will benefit all of them. I appeal to them to cooperate on this," he told the media.

"Rains have picked up in Karnataka from Monday and the inflow into Cauvery basin reservoirs has increased Rains have come to our rescue," he said.

'DONE NOTHING WRONG'

Shivakumar said the people who are working with him were tortured by central agencies in the guise of investigation. Responding to a question on the Supreme Court rejecting an application challenging the CBI case, the DyCM said the case has been handed over to the Lokayukta and it is investigating the case now. "I don't understand why the CBI is trying to investigate something which is not in its jurisdiction. I haven't done anything wrong," he said.

6 tmcft of Cauvery water gone to TN so far, says DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, who also holds the water resources portfolio, informed the Assembly on Tuesday that 1.5 tmcft of water is flowing to Tamil Nadu daily from the Cauvery basin in Karnataka. According to the Cauvery Water Regulation Committee (CWRC), 40 tmcft of water has to go to Biligundlu (in Tamil Nadu) and so far, 6 tmcft of water has gone, Shivakumar elaborated. "As per the CWRC, Karnataka has to release 40 tmcft of water. With good rains in the coming days, we hope to send 40 tmcft to Tamil Nadu," he added.

Explaining further, the DyCM said the inflow into Harangi reservoir is 12,827 cusecs, Hemavathi is 14,027 cusecs, KRS 25,933 cusecs, and Kabini 28,840 cusecs, and the total inflow is 56,626 cusecs.

"As per our records at Biligundlu, 6 tcmft has been released to Tamil Nadu. The daily flow to Tamil Nadu has reached 1.5 tcmft. With good rains, it won't be an issue, is what I feel," Shivakumar said.

DyCM DK Shivakumar makes a point in the Assembly on Tuesday

The Leader of Opposition R Ashoka said that the BJP, in the all-party meeting convened recently by CM Siddaramaiah, told not to release water to Tamil Nadu if there is no sufficient rain. "But there have been good showers now," he said.

Meanwhile, Shivakumar said that the State Government has so far spent Rs 25,000 crore on the Yettinahole project. "I am concerned if the water will reach Tumakuru district as desired, as siphoning off of water along the canal using pumpsets is a real threat," he said. He was replying to MLA Jagadish Gudaganti, who raised the issue of water from the Thungala-Savalagi lift irrigation project not reaching tail-end farmers.

"We have analysed how to tackle this problem. KRS water doesn't reach Malavalli. Gadag district doesn't get water even 20 years after a canal was constructed. If everyone supports us, we can pass legislation to check pilferage," he said.

Shivakumar said 90% of the water in the canals is getting siphoned off at many places. "Such things can't be stopped by the officials. The elected representatives need to create awareness about this among farmers. Tail-end areas are not receiving water from irrigation projects in several areas as water is being siphoned off even in lift irrigation projects," Shivakumar added.

TN ALL-PARTY MEETING FLAYS K'TAKA; STEPS WILL BE TAKEN TO PROTECT RYOTS: STALIN

Chennai: The meeting of the legislative party leaders in the Tamil Nadu Assembly on Tuesday decided to approach the Supreme Court, if necessary, to get Cauvery water for Tamil Nadu from Karnataka and Chief Minister M K Stalin vowed to take all necessary steps to protect the interests of farmers. The meeting strongly condemned the Karnataka government's decision to not release water as per the direction of the Cauvery Water Regulation Committee, the final award of the Cauvery Water Disputes Tribunal, and the verdict of the Supreme Court. The resolutions proposed by the CM were adopted unanimously. Addressing the meeting at the secretariat, Stalin assured that the State Government would uphold the rights of farmers of the Cauvery delta region. Speaking at the meeting, the CM said that Karnataka has refused to release even the nominal quantum of water ordered by the CWRC.

Oppn onslaught may force govt to adjourn session by next week

THE Ruling Congress has faced sharp criticism on the floor of both Houses by Opposition BJP and JDS for two successive days on Monday and Tuesday. When the House reconvenes on Thursday — Wednesday is a holiday for Muharram — Congress is likely to come under further attack over the Valmiki ST Corporation and MUDA scams and other issues.

As there has been no respite in the opposition onslaught, the legislature session is likely to be adjourned sine die sometime in the middle of next week, may be Wednesday, even before its scheduled ending on July 26.

Though senior leaders of the opposition — BJP's Basavaraj Bommai and JDS' HD Kumaraswamy — are now MPs and are in New Delhi, there is no respite for the ruling Congress. Their absence has had no impact on the firepower of the alliance as was proved in the first two days of the session.

Asked what other issues the opposition has in its arsenal, Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka said, "We raised serious irregularities in the Valmiki Development Corporation where funds meant for the poor have been diverted. On Thursday, apart from the ST Corporation scam, we will also take up issues of diversion of funds meant for Dalits, allegations regarding transfers, law and order situation, drought relief and the MUDA scam. We discussed these issues at the BJP Legislature Committee meeting and also the coordination committee meeting of BJP and JDS."

Congress is planning to hold a Congress Legislature Party meeting on Thursday and will asking partymen to firmly defend the government. The party has issued a whip asking party legislators to be fully present and defend the government in the Houses.

During this chaotic session, the government is planning to get some bills passed. The government is ready with them, but had not printed them as of Tuesday. They will be ready on Thursday or Friday. The government is planning to pass the Bills on Thursday, Friday and Monday, sources said. The government is also holding a cabinet meeting on Monday to take up urgent issues.

Tiff over incentives for milk producers

Minister for Animal Husbandry K Venkatesh informed the Council that the pending incentives for milk producers will be released soon. He said that Rs 700 crore was pending during the previous BJP government and the current Congress government has released Rs 200 crore. When BJP MLCs objected that it was important to provide incentives to the milk producers and that it was immaterial which government has released the funds, the minister said dues will be released in phases soon.

'Father of Corruption'

During a debate, former DyCM Dr CN Ashwath Narayan and DyCM DK Shivakumar made personal remarks against each other. When Dr Ashwath said the Congress government was corrupt and looted money, Shivakumar called him the father of corruption. Irked by this, Dr Ashwath sought an apology. Shivakumar, however, rejected the demand. BJP members created a ruckus and Speaker UT Khader had to adjourn the House for a while. The Speaker later expunged the 'father of corruption' remark.

The stretch of National HIghway-66 was blocked after a massive landslide at Shirur near Ankola | EXPRESS

LOCAL RESIDENTS ANGRY WITH ROAD CONSTRUCTION CO THAT WIDENED NH 66

They says company cut into foothills without taking any precautionary measures

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS
@ Ankola (Uttara Kannada)

ANGER against IRB Road Construction Company, which carried out the road-widening project on National Highway 66, has intensified with the massive landslide on Tuesday that took the lives of many people and caused serious damage to moveable and immovable property. Local residents termed this a man-made disaster and said the construction company did not take any safety precautions.

The massive landslide at Shirur buried many people. Though the district administration put the figure at seven, local residents believe more than a dozen people are caught under the debris. "The entire stretch of this road is unscientific. They have cut the foothill to suit road construction without taking precautions or anticipating trouble. This is the case all along National Highway 66. My relatives too died in this disaster. We will keep the bodies and protest against IRB," said Purushottam Naik, a relative of hotel owner Lakshman Bommaiah Naik -- whose entire family is said to be buried under mud.

Prakash Mesta, a local environmentalist and marine biologist, who has done an intense study on landslides, said, "IRB is responsible for the landslide as it has cut into the foothills, which is the main trigger. Uttara Kannada does not have much scope for development with sea on one side and human habitation on the other. There are no coastal plains like in Dakshina Kannada. The company has taken into consideration the minimum rainfall, while they should have taken the average maximum rainfall of 10 years. Moreover, our hills are formed out of laterite rocks standing on rich clay. When it rains, the clay absorbs water and swells, leading to massive landslides. The same has happened along NH 66."

Uttara Kannada MP Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri visited the spot along with former MLA Rupali Naik and directed the district administration to intensify the operation to retrieve the bodies and clear NH 66.

Local residents said this is the first such major incident on NH 66. "A landslide in 2012 at Khadwada killed over a dozen people, another one in 2017 killed three and in Bhatkal in 2022, a landslide took the lives of four people. But this is one of the most severe," said Promod Naik, a resident

Min blames landslip on 'unscientific' NHAI work

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

REVENUE Minister Krishna Byre Gowda on Tuesday claimed that "unscientific" projects executed by the National High Authority of India (NHAI) as well as the Seabird Naval base resulted in the landslide at Shrirur. He said the chief of NHAI will be called to rectify the flaws in the works.

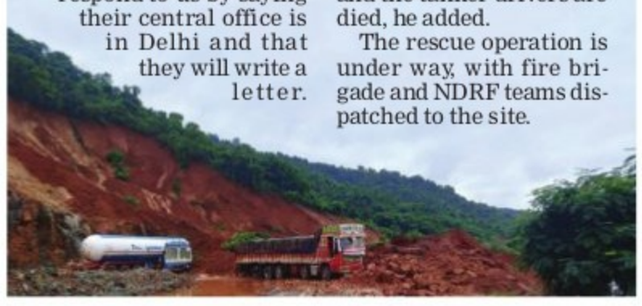
"I visited the area last year during heavy rain. The national highways are not constructed scientifically. Moreover, the canals of the Seabird Naval base are also not systematic. I had already warned about the possibility of landslides, but the NHAI did not heed our warnings," he said in his reply in the assembly over the incident.

"NHAI officials do not respond to us by saying their central office is in Delhi and that they will write a letter. However, the government has taken this incident seriously. Discussions with the officials will be held. Additionally, a letter will be sent through the chief secretary. All necessary steps will be taken to prevent such accidents in the future," he said.

Speaker U T Khader suggested that cases should be filed against central agencies, but Byre Gowda said the state is not ready to get into a fight.

The national highway runs between a river and a hill, where some unauthorised small canteens have been set up along the roadside and the incident occurred when tanker drivers' transporting cooking gas (LPG) stopped their vehicles for tea, he said. The landslide swept away tankers and the canteens. It is feared that seven people and the tanker drivers are died, he added.

The rescue operation is under way, with fire brigade and NDRF teams dispatched to the site.



Earthmovers sent from Hubballi

"They cut the hillock without taking into account the terrain and heavy rain the region receives during monsoon. The hillock came down because of this reason," Purushottam Naik said.

A team from NDRI launched a search and rescue operation within a few hours of the landslide. However, heavy rain hindered their rescue operation for most part of the day.

Deputy Commissioner Uttara Kannada Lakshmi Priya, ZP Chief Executive Officer Ishwar Khandoo and Superintendent of Police visited the spot.

Lakshmi Priya said the rescue operation is on and efforts are on to resume traffic on the highway. "More earthmoving vehicles and equipment are on their way from Hubballi. A team of officials has been formed to oversee the rescue work," she added.

Several houses have been inundated by the swollen Gangavalli river. Affected people have been shifted to temporary rehabilitation centres.

Meanwhile, district incharge minister Mankal Vaidya, who was in the Legislative Assembly, rushed to the spot and inspected the rescue operation.

₹5 LAKH

The district administration has been instructed to provide immediate compensation of Rs 5 lakh to the victims. Although the drivers are not from our state, they were here for work. Therefore, compensation will be provided to them as well, Minister Krishna Byre Gowda said.

Checking ghat roads, preparing audit report: NHAI

THIS is the reason for roads caving in, buildings tilting, snail-paced underground works, landslides and cracks being reported, not just in Karnataka, but across India. Such incidents point to an urgent need to take up thorough region-based capacity studies, soil chemistry studies and geographical terrain studies before starting projects, said a geologist from the Mines and Geology Department.

The National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) has asserted that Ankola stretch, where the landslide took place, was built four years ago. The road was in good condition and the landslide happened because of heavy rainfall. But geologists said no landslide occurs only because of natural causes. It is also man-made.

"Every time a big tree is cut, be certain of a road cave in or a landslide, because the soil becomes loose and the water holding capacity of the soil weakens. The ghat roads in Karnataka, Kerala, Goa and Tamil Nadu have become vulnerable due to increased and unplanned civil works. The slopes are exposed to road-cutting and deforestation, causing more landslides. The government is planning to take up widening of various ghats roads, but looking at this, they should now be cautious," said the expert from IISc.

The angles at which slopes are cut into for laying roads or widening them is also important. The natural angling, tilting, dip and placement of boulders should be studied. The amount of water in the soil and the rainfall pattern of at least two decades should be studied, the geologist said.

An official from the NHAI, however, said India is a developing country and road works are happening across the country. NHAI's job is to implement projects and give good roads. In case of the current tragedy, water falling from a height of 25 metres and the high currents in the river that was in spate are the conditions that could have weakened the hills. There could be gaps in the hills which led to the landslide, the official said. "We are now checking all the ghat roads and preparing an audit report," he added.

THE INTENSITY

The intensity of the landslide was so severe that it covered all the four lanes of the highway, went across and stretched through Gangavalli river too. It also killed Jaganath Naik (49) and Sanni Hanumatha Gouda (65) on the other side of the river.

A petroleum tanker was swept away and was seen floating in the river. Authorities were worried that it would explode if it hit the Manjugini bridge and shifted villagers to a rescue centre.

HOTEL, FAVOURITE AMONG TRUCKERS

"The hillock had several streams and truck drivers found it a suitable spot to bathe and freshen up. The hotel run by Lakshman Bommaiah Naik was popular because of its affordable tea and breakfast," said Akshay Naik, a local resident.

LANDSLIDE IN KARWAR TOO

Karwar's Kinnar village also witnessed a massive landslide killing Thikars Gurav (60). A hillock behind his house caved in due to heavy rainfall, killing him on the spot.

Because of this landslide, traffic has been diverted from this stretch for the next three days. Vehicles can reach Kumta taking the State Highway 143 via Hillur, Hoskambi, Mastikatte and reach Kumta through Madangere.

U.P. POLICY TO BRING HYBRIDS, EVs ON PAR SHOULD BE EMULATED

THE Uttar Pradesh government's recent waiver of registration fees for hybrid passenger vehicles is a welcome move and should be replicated by other states. The Centre, too, should consider reworking its goods and services tax structure to bring hybrids closer in line to electric vehicles (EVs), which are charged a 5 percent tax as compared to 43 percent for hybrids. UP's registration fee waiver is expected to reduce hybrid car prices by ₹1.5-3.5 lakh, depending on the model. This should boost sales of these environment-friendly vehicles. Hybrid cars have an internal combustion engine and one or more electric motors powered by batteries. The changeover from one to the other is seamless and depends on the driving conditions.

The new UP policy will benefit Toyota Kirloskar and Maruti Suzuki, who have hitched their future on hybrid cars rather than pursuing a pure EV strategy. The UP government, meanwhile, has made it clear that all hybrid models will not benefit; only those that reach the green benchmark certified under the central government's Faster Adoption and Manufacturing of Electric Vehicles or FAME II programme will. It is well known that electric cars are not the only option to cut carbon emissions and reduce oil imports. Multiple technologies must be pressed into service for cleaner transportation.

A policy levelling the field between EVs and hybrids understandably spells trouble for carmakers like M&M and Tata Motors, who have almost exclusively opted for an EV strategy. They have been arguing that UP's policy is not aligned with those of the central government, and could lead to inconsistency and confusion. However, from the consumer's point of view, as long as hybrids reduce emissions and save on burning fossil fuels, they should be seen on par with EVs. Hybrid cars have other advantages—they are cheaper than EVs, and are not entirely dependent on a battery charging infrastructure that is still inadequate in India. Toyota's international bets have always been on hybrid cars, seen in its successful run with the Prius model since 1997. Meanwhile, the global EV market has begun to stagnate; some experts hold that EV sales would reach a plateau when their market share reaches 30 percent. In this scenario, consumers are entitled to have a third option apart from gasoline and electric cars. It will tilt our energy options to the greener side.

TN FACES TOUGH CHOICES TO RAISE WELFARE FUNDS

WHILE it may be a little early to say that the Tamil Nadu government is facing financial stress, there is enough evidence to conclude that the funding of a string of social welfare schemes is increasingly a challenge. Though the state economy is growing at a robust 8-10 percent annually, outperforming the national average, the exchequer is finding itself in a tight spot as the ruling DMK considers the welfare schemes to support weaker sections its prime job.

The fund crunch is real. A recent story in this newspaper revealed that the state government is mulling a major overhaul of its special public distribution scheme for tur dal and palmolein oil. When the state started the popular scheme in 2007, tur dal used to be procured at ₹50 a kg and sold at ₹30. Similarly, palmolein was bought at ₹45 a litre and sold at ₹25. But now, when their prices have shot up nearly three times, the scheme is drilling a huge hole in the state coffers.

On the flip side, when electricity, water and land registration costs eventually move north to shore up the depleting kitty, common people will feel the pinch. After restructuring the electricity rate slabs, the government has now raised tariffs—for the third time in three years—to save the debt-ridden state utility that is struggling to stay afloat. The move to raise the cost of property registration and enhance guideline values has helped shore up the revenues, but has drawn flak from the public.

TN's finance minister recently blamed New Delhi's fiscal policies for the state's financial troubles. He said the state shouldered the entire cost of the Chennai Metro's second phase to avoid a delay in execution, but the Centre is yet to open its purses. This has forced TN to borrow and allocate ₹12,000 crore in the current year. This would be a huge burden on any state. The minister pointed out the money could have been used to buy 25,000 new buses, apart from building 30,000 km of rural roads, 3.5 lakh new houses and 50,000 new classrooms. Serious efforts are under way to attract more investments to the state to expand industrialisation while pushing exports, manufacturing, IT and smaller enterprises. But till the state becomes flush with funds, its struggle to fund welfare schemes will continue.

QUICK TAKE

GIVE MIGRANTS THEIR RATION

A case the Supreme Court had taken up during the pandemic has reached a boiling point. On March 19, the court had directed all states to verify and provide ration cards to nearly 8 crore migrant workers within two months. On Tuesday, the bench hearing the case got incensed on being told that only two states—Tripura and Bihar—had completed the verification; the others were either still at it or had not started. The bench threatened to haul up the states if the process is not completed in another month. The pandemic widened the governance gap in delivering basic schemes to migrants. The states should act post haste and close it.

As the attempt on Donald Trump showed, democratic dividends can turn into disasters if diverse democracies do not heal bitter schisms. The onus is as much on politicians as on the people

EDGE OF DEMOCRACY: BETWEEN DIVIDENDS AND DIVISIVENESS

MAKARAND R PARANJAPE

Author and commentator

RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE

SOURAV ROY

THERE is a common cliché, "The more things change, the more they remain the same." With Modi 3.0, however, its inverse may be more apposite: the more things remain the same, the more they change.

What do I mean by this? Modi 3.0 seems as keen as before to render the opposition inconsequential, in addition to illegitimate, using every trick in the book. But it is not going to be so easy. With 233 seats in the 543-member Lok Sabha, not only is the opposition INDIA bloc only seven seats short of BJP's 240, but it is much more vocal and visible than in Narendra Modi's previous two terms as prime minister.

Therefore, no matter how much the entire ecosystem along with media supporters keep up the appearance that nothing has changed, the fact is it is not business as usual. More significantly, the prospect of ushering in post-independence India's 'second republic' now appears quite remote.

This brings us to the central issue. Democracy, hailed as the custodian of freedom and pluralistic society, stands at a precipice in today's politically charged and divided environment. But diversity, weaponised into divisiveness, threatens the fabric of our nation. Especially if we are not careful to step back from the abyss when it comes to the game of political brinkmanship.

This stark reality was showcased in the shocking assassination attempt on former President Donald Trump during a campaign rally in Butler, Pennsylvania on July 12. It was an event rippling with consequences, the turning point in an electoral race that had become increasingly toxic.

Many think the remaining part of the campaign is perfunctory. For, like Pulwama in 2019, this is the pivot on which the race will turn in Trump's favour—especially as Trump clambered onto his feet despite being injured. With blood trickling down his face after the bullet ripped through his right ear, he repeatedly raised his fist saying "Fight, fight, fight..." The courage and fearlessness he displayed is bound to earn him the approval of undecided voters. This was immediately evident in endorsements from influencers no less powerful or wealthy than Elon Musk and Bill Ackman.

There have been three not-so-serious attempts on Trump prior to this near-deadly one. Had Trump not moved his head or had the bullet been aimed a couple of millimetres away, it might have been the end. Not only of Trump, but of democracy as we know it in the US. The reaction would have been so serious, even riotous, that the remaining campaign would have been marred by unprecedented hostility. Thankfully, we have been saved of all that.

The day after the attempt, both Trump and President Joe Biden tried to dial the temperature down among their supporters and called for national unity. But then Trump rode triumphantly into the Republican convention in Milwaukee on Monday, secure and his injured ear bandaged. Will he, however, be able to desist from pouring vitriol on Biden through the rest of the campaign? The voting public will blame the present administration for security lapses and all their previous attempts to block Trump from contesting. Apart from the blame game, the attempted assassination will pin the badge of 'verifiable victim' on Trump, energising his chest-thumping MAGA supporters.

What have seen unfolding, whether in the US or India, is the broader trend of escalating political violence and partisanship in democracies. This murderous assault on a political leader in the free world should compel us to examine the dangerous path large and diverse democracies like the United States and India are treading. The lesson is simple: democratic dividends can turn into disasters if diverse societies and large democracies do not heal bitter political divisions and social schisms.

This is the chilling reality sobering outcome of the July 13 shooting. To safeguard dividends of democracy and ensure its sustainability, we must avow our universal and unequivocal commitment to civic decency rather than bitter divisiveness in public life. Furthermore, there needs to be a covenant between political leaders and all stake holders to eschew violence as a legitimate instrument for resolving disputes.

In the US, the embittered polarities between the Republicans and Democrats have often slid into a quagmire of vicious animosity and disrespect. Similarly, India's multi-coloured fabric of religions, languages and cultures, with their own unique political expressions, have, at times, seen national concerns and social unity frayed not just at its edges but at the very centre. As in Uttar Pradesh, which voted decisively away, if not entirely against, the ruling Bharatiya Janata Party in the recent Lok Sabha polls. It was this turn that cost Modi 3.0 its majority as well as the authority to usher in what many had termed as our second republic.

The inherent promise of democracy is rooted in the peaceful arbitration of conflicting interests. However, when the resolution mechanisms get supplanted by violence, the notion of democratic dividends from increased political participation and accountability quickly regresses into disaster. This downward spiral is precipitated by the normalisation and endorsement of violence as a means of political expression. Incidents of political intimidation and aggression mar the democratic landscape, creating a culture of fear that undermines the very principles of freedom and diversity.

At the heart of restoring the equilibrium is the need for decency in public life—an unwavering commitment to civility, reasoned dialogue, and respect for differing viewpoints. Political leaders and public figures should exemplify this decency, setting the tone for both discourse and behavior. The penchant for ad hominem attacks and inflammatory rhetoric only fuels divisiveness, eroding the thin veneer of societal cohesion.

Whether in the US or India, the path forward depends on our collective repudiation of violence as the means of sorting out political differences. This necessitates a broad-based consensus spanning the political spectrum. Partisan acrimony must be shelved in favor of collaborative effort toward de-escalating tensions and bridging divides. National unity is the need of the hour in both societies.

Our motto cannot be to grab or retain power by hook or crook.

NEED FOR MORE INCLUSIVITY IN BHARATIYA NYAYA SANHITA

"No pride for some of us without liberation for all of us."

— Marsha P Johnson

THAMIZHACHI THANGAPANDIAN

Member of the Lok Sabha from South Chennai constituency

EVERY year, the month of June celebrates individuality, inclusivity and pride. The historic Stonewall riots of 1969 in New York serve as an important reminder of the struggles of the queer liberation movement.

India has, in the past half-century, made great strides in queer protection and empowerment, and the support for the community has been growing exponentially within the population. The Supreme Court of India , in its various judgements, has recognised the rights of the LGBTQIA+ community. In National Legal Services Authority vs Union of India, the SC held that Articles 14 to 16 and Articles 19 and 21 of the Constitution recognise gender identity and discriminating against someone based on their gender identity would amount to a violation of their fundamental rights. In Navtej Singh Johar vs Union of India (2018), the SC interpreted that Articles 21, 14, 15 and 19 of the Constitution include the fundamental rights to sexual identity, sexual autonomy, sexual privacy, and choice of partner. In 2019, the Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Act was passed.

Madras High Court judge N Anand Venkatesh in S Sushma vs Commissioner of Police, 2021, issued interim directions for proper recognition of the rights of the LGBTQIA+ community and to ensure their safety and security to lead a life of their choice. The bench itself went under a counselling session to help them understand ground realities, emotions, social discrimination and exclusion, and several other difficulties faced by the community.

However, as we draw the curtain on the 2024 pride month celebrations, a jarring change in the name of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 came into effect on July 1, 2024, replacing the Indian Penal Code.

In 2018, a constitution bench of the SC declared consensual sexual acts between adults were decriminalised and was seen as a historic win for the LGBTQIA+ community. However, the court withheld that non-consensual sexual acts, acts against minors and bestiality would still be governed by Section 377. The omission of these protections in the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita is a grave misstep that misreads the jurisprudence developed around IPC 377 and ignores the multifaceted nature of sexual violence in India. The Act, as it stands today, turns a blind eye towards sexual violence against male-identifying individuals, trans men and bestiality. It fails to acknowledge the struggles of the queer community.

I am reminded of a 2022 Punjabi film directed by Ramandeep Bhuttar titled 'Jaggi'. Based on true events, the film highlights the sexual exploitation faced by men and the societal silence surrounding such experiences. In a society that perpetuates patriarchal norms, the victimhood of men remains taboo. According to the National Crime Records Bureau of India, 826 and 955 cases were registered under IPC 377 in 2020 and 2021 respectively. These figures likely represent only a fraction of actual incidents, with under-reporting rampant due to stigma, lack of awareness and police mishandling.

PTI

> In 2018, the Supreme Court decriminalised consensual sexual acts between adults. But non-consensual acts, acts against minors and bestiality were still to be governed by IPC's Section 377. The omission of these in the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita is a grave misstep

The Centre could pick a few pages from the playbook on governance from Tamil Nadu and learn how to build a more inclusive society, not a polarised nation. Under the leadership of CM M K Stalin, the TN government is currently working on establishing an LGBTQIA+ policy that promises a variety of empowerment initiatives, including horizontal reservations for trans and intersex individuals, stigma-free healthcare, the right to inheritance, etc. The former chief minister M Karunanidhi was known for a variety of policy inclusions and for coining the term 'Thirunangai' and 'Thirunambi', championing an era of the betterment of the lives of individuals from the LGBTQIA+ community.

I have, both during my time as an academician and later as a representative of the people, had the opportunity to interact with many individuals from the community. Their struggle for basic rights even after 75 years of independence, is unfortunate. In my time as a member of the Lok Sabha, I have spoken about many issues, including surrogacy laws and queer empowerment. On July 19, 2022, I spoke about the discrimination of the LGBTQIA+ community members as Matters Under Rule 377.

In a nation that prides itself on being a constitutional democracy, ignoring the plight of these marginalised groups is unacceptable. The home ministry needs to rectify this grave injustice by reviewing the legal deficiencies in the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita and include comprehensive provisions that protect all individuals—men, transgender persons, women, and animals—against sexual assault and carnal rape. The omission of 377 is not merely a legal oversight but a failure to uphold the constitutional values of equality and justice. The Indian government must recognise the diverse experiences of sexual violence and ensure that the legal framework protects all individuals, regardless of gender or sexual orientation. Ignoring this critical issue only further perpetuates systematic injustice and undermines the progress we have made as a nation. Sexual abuse towards any individual regardless of their sex or gender should be considered a grave offence and should be severely punishable under the laws of this country.

Only through such inclusive legislation can we hope to build a just and equitable society. The time to act is now. The home ministry must heed this call for a comprehensive review and amendment of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita Act to safeguard the rights and dignity of every citizen.

Seniors' interest

Ref: The fortune at the top of the age pyramid (Jul 16). Many senior citizens struggle to make ends meet. The government has made little attempt to keep them within the ambit of the country's welfare framework. These senior citizens have no other source of income except interest earnings from their bank deposits. The government should increase the bank interest on FDs of senior citizens to a minimum of 9 percent and stop deducting tax on it.

Telephone tariffs

The decision of three private telephone companies to increase tariff is due to high spectrum charges in the auction. But the spectrum does not belong to the government; it only assigns bandwidth. Spectrum is generated by telephone companies themselves and is reused. The government trying to auction what it doesn't own should be stopped to control phone tariffs.

'Intel failure behind surge in high casualties'

34 deaths of soldiers have been reported since 2021 while 40 terrorists have been killed in the same period, shows data

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

Northern Army Commander Lieutenant General MV Suchindra Kumar pays tribute to soldiers killed in the Doda encounter | PTI

TERRORISTS have managed to inflict major casualties on the Army so far this year, with a recent spurt in encounters in J&K, as per data.

Four Army personnel, including a captain, were killed on Monday after being injured in a gunfight with heavily-armed terrorists in Doda district of Jammu and Kashmir. Chief of Army Staff General Upendra Dwivedi and the Army on Tuesday conveyed their condolences to families of Captain Brijesh Thapa, Naik D Rajesh, Sepoy Bijendra and Sepoy Ajay, who were martyred during the counter-terror operation.

"Indian Army stands with the bereaved families in this hour of grief," the Army said.

As per sources, 13 security forces personnel have been killed since May this year. This include the nine Army soldiers killed in last one week and one personnel each of the Air Force, CRPF, BSF and JKP. However, only three terrorists have been neutralised so far in 2024.

Confirming this newspaper's July 8 report, Army sources have said that there have been serious issues regarding intelligence inputs and the change of tactics by the terrorists.

On July 8, five soldiers were killed and as many wounded in a terror attack in remote Machedi area of J&K's Kathua district, hinting at changes in tactics by the terrorists and exposing chinks in troop deployment.

The area earlier was looked after by a battalion (around 800 troops), which at present has two companies (around 260 troops). Also, terrorists have been taking less logistical support from the locals and using caves to hide, the sources said.

The Machedi encounter is the second major attack in Kathua within a month.

SP Vaid, former J&K Police chief, told this newspaper that infiltration is yet to be stopped. "Pakistan has a factory, which churns out attackers in J&K to cause disturbance," he said. The spurt in terror attacks in Jammu is a well thought-out move by terrorists in order to drive home a point that "terrorism is not dead," he added.

Rahul says govt must take responsibility for lapses

The spate of terror attacks that has gripped J&K needs careful recalibration in our security strategy
Mallikarjun Kharge

THE Congress on Tuesday mounted a scathing attack on the Union government after four soldiers were killed in an encounter in Jammu and Kashmir's Doda. Senior Congress leader Rahul Gandhi said that the Centre should take full responsibility for repeated security lapses.

Accusing the BJP of its wrong policies on J&K, Gandhi said that the soldiers and their families are bearing the brunt of it. "Such horrific incidents happening one after the other is extremely sad and worrying... Our soldiers and their families are bearing the brunt of BJP's wrong policies," he said.

Echoing the sentiments, Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge said that government cannot endanger national security by indulging in false bravado, fake narratives and high-decibel whitewashing.

DGP's 'terror nexus' remarks draw Mufti ire

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE mainstream leaders in Jammu and Kashmir have hit out at Director General of Police (DGP) R R Swain over his controversial statement that mainstream parties had started cultivating leaders of terror networks to further their electoral prospects.

Venting her ire, former Chief Minister and PDP chief Mehbooba Mufti demanded sacking of 'fixer' DGP and sitting NC MP Aga Ruhullah, saying that had he been dedicated more to his job as a cop and "worked less as a political worker, these tragedies could have been avoided".

"About 50 soldiers have lost their lives in 32 months in Jammu region. Nobody is being held accountable. The DGP is busy fixing things politically here," Mehbooba said while addressing a presser.

She said instead of concentrating on his job, DGP is working to break PDP, how to harass people and how to threaten them and how to harass journalists. "Passport is being used as a weapon, verification has been weaponised. They are finding ways to invoke UAPA on maximum people," she said.

MUKESH RANJAN & RAMASHANKAR @ Ranchi/Patna

THE CBI on Tuesday arrested two more accused in connection with NEET-UG question paper leak case, taking the number of arrested over the irregularities in the medical entrance exam to 14.

Pankaj Kumar alias Aditya, a Bokaro resident and a 2017-batch civil engineer from NIT Jamshedpur who allegedly stole NEET-UG paper from the NTA trunk in Hazaribagh, was arrested from Patna. Raj Kumar Singh alias Raju, who allegedly helped Kumar in stealing the paper and passing it on to other gang members, was arrested from Hazaribagh in Jharkhand, CBI officials said.

Raju is said to be the owner of a guest house in Hazaribagh sealed by CBI officials. The CBI team also recovered some documents from the guest house. Raju is the fourth person arrested from Hazaribagh in the paper leak case.

The CBI team camping at Hazaribagh for the last two days conducted raids on the residence of Raju on Monday. Later, he was detained and taken to the guest house. EC outreach: Choice for 'aggrieved candidates' to pick and check EVMs

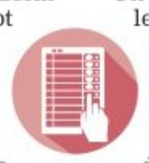
MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Election Commission of India (EC) on Tuesday issued the technical Standard Operating Procedure (SoPs) and stipulated choices for aggrieved candidates, who have applied for Supreme Court-directed checking of Electronic Voting Machines (EVM) for possible tampering post Lok Sabha and assembly results.

In an official statement, the poll panel said that the aggrieved candidates, who have applied for checking, would be allowed to pick machines from any polling station in an assembly segment and could opt for a mock poll and VVPAT slip count.



The poll panel has received eight applications from aggrieved candidates, including those from the BJP and the Congress, for verification of tampering or modification in microcontroller chips embedded in the EVMs post declaration of the Lok Sabha election results on June 4. Along with these, three for the Assembly elections in Andhra Pradesh and Odisha, where polling took place simultaneously, have also been received.

On June 1, the EC had released an administrative SOP, which said aggrieved candidates who want to apply for verification, must do so within seven days of the results and deposit ₹40,000 per EVM.

Terming the suspicion of EVM manipulation "unfounded", the Supreme Court on April 26 rejected the demand for reverting to the old paper ballot system, though it had said the candidates can approach EC for verification.

Will allow to pick EVMs from any booth, says EC

6 states likely to get special economic grants

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

AMID the pitch for special category status, the NDA government at the Centre may consider giving special economic grants to nearly six states that fall short in the index of developments, officials said.

Bihar is one these six states that may get consolidated special economic grants in the forthcoming budget for sector-wise developments. The other states likely to get such grants include Andhra Pradesh, Jharkhand, Chhattisgarh and Odisha, and the Union Territory of J&K, officials said.

The JD(U), which is one of the key partners of NDA, is pitching for the special status to Bihar, which is scheduled to go for assembly polls next year. Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu, who was on a visit to Delhi on Tuesday, is learnt to have pitched for special economic grants for his state to complete some mega development projects.

The demand for special status for Bihar has been made for a long time based on its poor economic status and a major part of it being flood-prone.

"The special status to any state is not now feasible after NITI Aayog has fixed some norms. But, the NDA-III government at the Centre is committed to the development of all states, be it Bihar or Andhra Pradesh. Possibility of special economic grants to 5-6 states cannot be ruled out in the upcoming budget," said an official.

The Centre has sought suggestions from every state on the budget. As part of this, some states have pitched for special economic supports. A senior official hinted that J&K, which is all set to go for assembly polls this year, may also get a consolidated economic package for its all-round development.

"Other states like Bihar and Andhra, which have been pitching for special economic supports in the form of special status, may also get strong economic grants for sector-wise development like road, industry, power, employment and agriculture," the official said.

"While formal acknowledgment of special status may not be feasible under current guidelines, extending substantial economic grants to five or six states in the imminent budget is likely," he said.

'NITI Aayog norms not for special status'

- Bihar, which has been demanding special category status, may get consolidated special economic grants

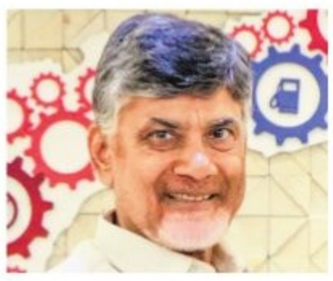
Naidu meets Shah to push for more funds for Andhra

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi



IN his second visit to the capital ahead of the Budget session of Parliament, Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu met Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Tuesday late evening. According to sources, the meeting was to push for increased fund allocation for the state in the upcoming Union Budget.

During his visit, the chief of Telugu Desam Party (TDP), the largest ally in the BJP-led NDA government, is expected to meet Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman and other ministers.

Speaking to this newspaper, TDP Parliamentary party leader Krishna Devarayalu stated that the party is hopeful that their demands will be taken in a positive way.

"The meetings will be mostly surrounding the Budget. We are part of the NDA and they have invited us to discuss issues relating to the Budget. We are hopeful that the demands made by the CM will be taken in a positive way," he said.

This is Naidu's second Delhi visit in nearly a fortnight. On July 4, he met the Prime Minister and presented a seven-point development agenda aimed at addressing the state's post-bifurcation challenges. He also sought Central funds to various sectors based on promises made in the Andhra Pradesh Reorganisation Act, 2014. Key among Naidu's demands were funds for the Polavaram irrigation project, special assistance for backward regions, and support for the development of the new capital, Amaravati.

79 Tripura teachers challenge 'illegal termination'

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

A group of 79 graduate teachers from Tripura has moved the Supreme Court, challenging their illegal termination by the state government and seeking reinstatement.

In a writ petition filed under Article 32 of the Indian Constitution, the teachers accuse the Tripura government of arbitrary mass termination in December 2017 and March 2020.

The petitioners claim that the termination has stripped them of their livelihoods, leading to severe consequences, including reported suicides and mysterious deaths of more than 160 affected teachers.

"The illegal termination violates established legal procedures and has left the affected teachers destitute, forcing them into menial jobs such as rickshaw pulling and domestic work to make ends meet," it said.

The petition highlighted pointing out that despite the terminations, their employment status and salary codes remain "active" in official records, causing massive losses to public exchequer.

Half of applications under PM CARES for Covid orphan kids rejected: Govt

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

OVER half of the applications under the PM CARES for children scheme for Covid-19 orphans has been rejected, officials said Tuesday.

The Ministry of Women and Child Development received 9,331 applications from 613 districts across 33 states and Union Territories (UTs). However, only 4,532 applications from 558 districts in 32 states and UTs were approved.

Ministry officials said that while 4,781 applications were rejected, 18 are pending approval, without sharing the reason behind the rejection.

Launched at the peak of Covid-19 cases in India on May 29, 2021, the PM CARES for Children scheme aimed to support children who lost their parents, a legal guardian, adoptive parents, or a surviving parent to the pandemic between March 11, 2020 to May 5, 2023.

Among the states, Rajasthan, Maharashtra and Uttar Pradesh reported the highest number of applications, with 1,553, 1,511, and 1,007 applications, respectively. The approval rates in these states are 855 applications from Maharashtra, 210 from Rajasthan, and 467 from Uttar Pradesh.

Officials said that a year after the scheme was launched, the ministry received 9,042 applications from 33 states and 611 districts, of which 4,345 were approved in 2022.

In Parliament last year, former Women and Child Development Minister Smriti Irani said that over 4,000 children who lost both parents to Covid-19 pandemic are being supported under the scheme.

The minister told the Lok Sabha in August last year that of the 4,418 children being supported under the scheme, 836 are from Maharashtra alone. Maharashtra is followed by Uttar Pradesh at 441, Madhya Pradesh (432), Tamil Nadu (394), Andhra Pradesh (351), Telangana (257), Karnataka (231) and Gujarat (223).

According to the ministry, as many as 2,305 children live in childcare institutions in India. The maximum number is in Tamil Nadu at 221.

Shah takes a swipe at Cong with 'quota for Muslim' jibe

In Karnataka, the Congress snatched reservation for backward classes and gave it to Muslims. The same will happen here (Haryana) if they come to power

Amit Shah, Home Minister

Hooda draws flak

Home Minister Amit Shah said when polls gets closer, Bhupinder Singh Hooda chants the term backward class. However, the Congress party has always been against the backward classes, he added.

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah said on Tuesday that if the Congress comes to power in Haryana, it will snatch the reservation for other backward classes (OBCs) and give it to Muslims.

He said the BJP will not allow Muslim reservation in Haryana where Assembly elections are scheduled to be held later this year.

Addressing a 'Backward Classes Samman Sammelan' at Mahendragarh , Shah said, "In Karnataka, the Congress snatched reservation for backward classes and gave it to Muslims. The same will happen here (Haryana) if they come to power. I want to assure you that we will not allow Muslim reservation in Haryana."

Targeting former CM Bhupinder Singh Hooda over the Congress's 'Haryana Maange Hisab' campaign, he said, " Hooda sahab, you have to give an account of 10 years of misgovernance and depriving Haryana of development."

"When the election gets closer Bhupinder Singh Hooda chants the term backward class. However, the Congress party has always been against the backward classes," he said. Shah referred to the Kaka Kalekar Commission formed in the 1950s to provide reservation to OBCs and said the Congress did not implement its recommendations for years. "In 1980, (the then prime minister) Indira Gandhi put the Mandal Commission in cold storage. In 1990, when it was accepted, Rajiv Gandhi gave a two-and-a-half-hour speech and opposed OBC reservation."'

Shah said the Nayab Singh Saini government increased the annual income limit for the creamy layer of OBCs from ₹6 lakh to ₹8 lakh. "The backward classes have blessed the BJP profusely. Now it is the responsibility of the BJP to do more for them," he said.

Shah said the BJP gave the nation its first PM from the backward classes. "Today out of 71 ministers in his government, Modi ji has inducted 27 ministers from the backward classes, including two from Haryana. We have made the son of a BC family the CM. The Congress has given Haryana only corruption and casteism," he added.

Cong, SP begin seat-share talks for Assembly bypolls

CPI seeks 'proper' seat deal

The Communist Party of India (CPI) is expecting that it will get more seats to contest in the upcoming assembly elections in three states — Maharashtra, Jharkhand and Haryana — under 'proper' seat-sharing arrangement as part of the INDIA alliance. Buoyed by the outcome of the Lok Sabha polls, party general secretary D Raja said that there should be a proper seat-sharing arrangements among the INDIA bloc members for the polls.

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AFTER making an impressive comeback in recently concluded Lok Sabha elections in Uttar Pradesh, the INDIA Alliance partners — Congress and the Samajwadi Party (SP) — have reportedly commenced the deliberations for a seat-sharing arrangement for the upcoming bypoll to 10 assembly segments to be held later this year.

Both political parties, which had contested the 2024 Lok Sabha election as partners of opposition bloc, had announced to fight the bypoll, necessitated by the victory of sitting MLAs in Lok Sabha polls, in alliance. However, a decision over the number of seats that each partner will contest is yet to be decided.

Notably, of the 10 Assembly seats which will go to polls, five were held by the SP, three by the BJP, one each by BJP allies RLD and NISHAD party. As per the UPCC chief Ajai Rai, the discussion over the seat sharing were on at the highest level as the two partners would fight the bypoll in alliance.

Although the number of seats to be shared between the two is still unknown, the buzz among the senior Congress leaders is that the grand old party will seek those seats which were held by the BJP and its allies.

UP assembly had declared these 10 seats vacant between June 7 and 18 and the bypoll there will be held within six months from the date of vacancy.

The ECI may hold the bypoll there along with the election to assemblies of Haryana and Maharashtra, later this year.

The five seats held by SP comprise of Katehari (Ambedkar Nagar), Karhal (Mainpuri), Milkipur (Ayodhya), Kundarki (Moradabad) and Sisamau (Kanpur). The seat of Sisamau has been vacated by sitting SP MLA Irfan Solanki who has been disqualified owing to his conviction and a sentence of seven years in a criminal case.

Of them, Katehari has been vacated by SP MLA Lalji Verma who got elected to Lok Sabha from Ambedkar Nagar Lok Sabha seat.

School timings changed to ease traffic jams

In an effort to address Dehradun's chronic traffic issues, the administration has announced a change in school timings throughout the city. Starting on July 19, 21 schools in five major areas will adjust their start and end times to help alleviate traffic congestion. Under the new schedule, schools will stagger their hours to reduce the number of students and staff on the roads during peak traffic times. This decision came after a meeting between District Magistrate Sonika and school administrators and has been given the green light by police. The change will impact over 26,500 students.

VIP chief father's murder triggers storm in Bihar

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE brutal murder of Vikassheel Insaan Party (VIP) chief and former state minister Mukesh Sahani's father Jitan Sahani in Bihar's Darbhanga district has created a political storm in the state.

Jitan Sahani's mutilated body was found on his bed at his ancestral home in Bihar's Darbhanga district on Tuesday morning. The chilling incident has sparked off panic among local residents. The police have detained two suspects for interrogation in the incident.

Sources said that Jitan Sahani was alone in the house when unknown assailants attacked Sahani several times and brutally murdered him. Jitan's body bore fatal injuries, creating speculation that the motive behind the murder could be something serious.

Darbhanga deputy inspector general (DIG) Baburam, who was camping at the site of occurrence said that police collected some vital clues during the investigation.

A small almirah containing some papers has been recovered from a nearby pond. Three empty glasses were also found lying on the table inside the house. Sahani's VIP is a part of the RJD-led grand alliance.

7-yr jail, hefty fine — C'garh circular to curb cow smuggling

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

CHHATTISGARH director general of police Ashok Juneja has issued a circular on Tuesday asking every district police chief and all range inspector generals (IGs) to undertake strong measures and close monitoring to prevent cattle (Govansh) smuggling and slaughtering in the state.

The official note talks about initiating tough actions and preventive steps to curb cattle smuggling and killing.

The circular stated that the steps will be taken against the district superintendent of police and the incharge of entire police stations if the vehicle found with illegal transport of cattle having covered the route of their jurisdiction.

"A negative remark will be inserted in their (police officials) service book", it stated.

"Incidents of illegal transport and smuggling of cattle, its slaughtering and sale of beef had come to light. It is essential to identify the accused involved in such incidents and initiate effective legal prohibitory action against such incidents.

Non-bailable offence

The circular stated that steps will be taken against the district superintendent of police and the incharge of entire police stations if the vehicle found with illegal transport of cattle having covered the route of their jurisdiction. The offences will be cognizable and non-bailable. May launch a special campaign.

Owing to missing proper control on these occurrences, anger emerges among the people against such cruel tendencies and impact the communal harmony and law & order situation. A special campaign needed to be launched against the involved accused to eliminate such illegal practices", the official circular stated addressed to senior police officers.

To check the aforesaid incidents, the circular cited various legal provisions like Chhattisgarh Agricultural Cattle Preservation (Amendment) Act 2011 and the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act 1960 and 2017. The offences will be cognizable and non-bailable.

Mevani says Cong voters targeted, 2 castes victimised

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

AFTER his party suffered a humiliating defeat in the Gujarat Lok Sabha polls, Congress leader and MLA Jignesh Mevani on Tuesday claimed that the grand old party supporters are being unfairly targeted and their shops demolished in the Gir Somnath district.

For the past few weeks, the state Congress leaders have been pressuring the government on various issues. Mevani has consistently criticised the government. He has accused the government of indulging in corruption through demolitions in the district.

The Congress leader alleged that the Ahir and Dalit communities are being specifically targeted in the district, with their hotels, houses, and pan shops being demolished. Claiming that a former MP's shrimp farm is operating illegally on the road from Kodinar to Una, Mevani dared the government to demolish Dinu Bogha Solanki's numerous illegal structures.

He claimed, "Gir Somanth districts's Kodinar assembly Congress candidate Mahesh Makwana has been unjustly arrested at the behest of BJP. Following Makwana's complaint, the authorities proceeded to raid the office of the BJP leader." Mevani also raised concerns about the employees working in circuit houses in the state. He alleged that employees in circuit houses throughout the state were not receiving minimum wages. He added that the managers and supervisors at the Rajkot circuit house were abusing workers who demanded fair wages. The contractual employees at circuit houses are being exploited by being paid only ₹8,000 instead of the minimum ₹12,000, Mevani alleged.

Former CM blames ticket distribution for BJP 'poor' show

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

FORMER Uttarakhand Chief Minister Tirath Singh Rawat, who was denied a ticket by the BJP in the Lok Sabha election, has reiterated his disappointment over the party's ticket allocation process.

Ever since the parliamentary polls, Rawat has been unrelenting in his criticism, stating that imposed candidates will not succeed in the future. The party cut Rawat's ticket in favour of Anil Baluni, which disappointed him. The party's recent defeats in the Badrinath and Mangalour assembly bypolls have only intensified Rawat's criticism. At Monday's party's working committee meeting, Rawat unequivocally stated that the party needs to re-think the implications of 'imposing candidates'. His statement has put the entire state BJP on the defensive.

In a scathing attack, the former chief minister termed the BJP's candidate selection criteria for the recent by-election in Uttarakhand "incorrect". "I had hinted at this earlier and also said that workers in the state are not getting the respect they deserve," Rawat said in his address.

His remarks came after the BJP' s recent defeat in the bypolls, sparked a debate within the party. Rawat's criticism is seen as a significant development, as he has been a prominent party leader besides being the state's former chief minister. Known for his unconventional style, Rawat has criticised the BJP's organisational lapses in the recent election results. However, he congratulated Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami on completing three years in office, wishing him a 15-year tenure as CM.

After Maha row, training of IAS officer on hold, called to academy

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Lal Bahadur Shastri National Academy of Administration (LBSNAA) in Mussoorie has directed the Maharashtra government to immediately halt the district training program of Pooja Khedkar, a trainee IAS officer, and recall her to LBSNAA for necessary actions. This decision follows allegations that Khedkar submitted fake disability and caste certificates.

Dr Khedkar gained notoriety for her unprofessional behavior and demanding nature during her training in Pune. The Pune district collector's report to the Maharashtra state chief secretary led to her transfer from Pune to Washim in the Vidarbha region.

The controversy centers on accusations that Dr. Khedkar falsified her disability and Other Backward Caste (OBC) certificates to secure her position in the IAS.

In 2007, she presented a fitness certificate when enrolling in medical school in Pune. However, during her IAS application, she claimed to be visibly disabled and mentally ill, benefiting from the OBC PwBD 5 category. Initially, she declared a single disability in her early UPSC attempts but later claimed multiple disabilities to increase her chances.

Further scrutiny revealed that Dr. Khedkar also used a fake OBC certificate. Her father, Dilip Khedkar, a first-class officer in the state government, contested the Lok Sabha elections as a Vanchit Bahujan Aghadi candidate, declaring an income of Rs 40 crore and an annual income of Rs 49 lakh. Dr. Khedkar herself reported assets worth ₹ 21 crore and an annual income of ₹40 lakh to the central government.

Government rules state that OBC benefits are reserved for those with an annual income of less than ₹8 lakh, a criterion Dr. Khedkar did not meet, yet she availed of these benefits for multiple UPSC attempts and securing an IAS position.

Additionally, Dr. Khedkar frequently changed her residence addresses and names to mislead authorities and gain further advantages.

Custodial death of Pardhi youth in Guna sparks row

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

THE alleged custodial death of a dacoity case accused Pardhi tribe youth Deva Pardhi is turning into a major issue in Guna district. Demanding registration of an FIR against the local police station in-charge in the matter, a group of Pardhi community women, which included members of the deceased youth's extended family, created major ruckus in the Guna district collector's premises on Tuesday.

Some of the women even tried to take their clothes off when the police tried to stop them from protesting inside the district collectorate premises.

Around 25-30 women of the Pardhi community met the Guna district collector Satyendra Singh at Tuesday's public hearing, demanding that an FIR be lodged against the concerned police station in-charge in connection with 25-year-old Deva Pardhi's custodial death on Sunday.

During the protest, when the cops stopped them, they clashed with the cops, which resulted in injuries to a woman and an on duty cop Dilip Rajouria. The 25-year-old and uncle Gangaram (both accused in multiple cases of crimes in the past) were picked up for questioning in a dacoity case on Sunday. Deva died reportedly while being taken by the police for questioning. She was slated to be married just hours later.

Charges of dacoity

The Guna police officials said, Deva and uncle Gangaram were taken into custody for questioning over a dacoity in a village. During the recovery of the stolen items, Deva reportedly complained of chest pain after which he was taken to a hospital where he died.

Blinken criticises Israel for high civilian casualties in Gaza

WAR WATCH
ISRAEL-GAZA: DAY 284

GAZA

ISRAEL kept up its bombing of Gaza on Tuesday, after its key military backer the United States renewed criticism of its ally over the high civilian casualty toll of the war.

Residents said Israeli warplanes striking central Gaza and artillery fire hitting the territory's south, while medics said they pulled multiple bodies from the rubble of the latest bombardment.

Hours earlier, US Secretary of State Antony Blinken told two top Israeli officials that the casualties among Palestinian civilians "still remain unacceptably high". "We continue to see far too many civilians killed in this conflict," spokesman Matthew Miller said after Blinken met Strategic Affairs Minister Ron Dermer and National Security Adviser Tzachi Hanegbi.

After the latest deadly strikes, medics from the Palestinian Red Crescent said they recovered four bodies from a house outside the southern city of Khan Younis and another from Nuseirat camp in central Gaza. The Israeli military said its air force struck "approximately 40 terror targets" in Gaza. They included "sniping posts, observation posts, Hamas military structures, terror infrastructure, and buildings rigged with explosives". It said its troops were also continuing targeted raids in the far-southern city of Rafah and in the central Gaza Strip. The Israeli military has also rounded up scores of Gazans, who have made allegations of torture, rape and other abuses in custody that Israeli authorities have denied.

TRUMP'S ECONOMIC AGENDA

Broad outlines of his economic plans were articulated at the Republican convention but with little detailing

HIGH TARIFFS

Trump says he wants tariffs on trade partners. It's a pitch he made in his first shot at presidency as well

He had raised a tariff wall against China, EU and other nations, claiming it was a measure to protect US manufacturing jobs. Biden stayed with it and went a step further to ban exports of advanced computer chips to China

But analysis by economists Kimberly Clausing and Mary Lovely found that Trump's tariffs would cost a typical US household $1,700 a year. In other words, it would effectively be a tax hike

TAX-FREE TIPS

Trump wants to make receiving tips by workers tax-free

It has bipartisan backing. Both GOP and Democrats want ban on taxes on tips paid to workers. Biden White House favours a higher minimum wage for tipped workers

INFLATION

Republican platform promises to defeat inflation and quickly bring down prices of goods

Trump's tariff plans could worsen inflation. It's unclear how he would lower inflation

CORPORATE TAX

Trump also wants to cut the corporate tax rate

Companies like Trump's ideas to further lower the corporate tax rate from 21% to 20%. Corporate tax rate was 35% when he became president in 2017. Democrats want 28% corporate tax fund programmes for middle class

IMMIGRATION

Stopping illegal immigration is right up there on the list of priorities. Republicans are promising the largest deportation programe in history

But analysis by Peterson Institute of International Economics showed that deporting 1.3 million workers would shrink US economy by 2.1%, creating a recession

Bandaged Trump gets rapturous welcome

Going against tradition, the former president made an appearance towards the end of Day 1 at the Republican National Convention

Donald Trump and his running mate J D Vance acknowledge the crowd support for them at the Republican National Convention | AP

MILWAUKEE

FORMER US president Donald Trump, wearing a bandage partially covering his right ear, made his first public appearance at the Republican National Convention here since surviving an assassination attempt. The large white bandage covered much of his right ear. Trump, 78, on Monday, entered the hall to roaring applause and holding his fist aloft towards the end of the first day of the four-day convention.

He escaped an assassination bid over the weekend while attending a public rally in Philadelphia. Thousands of Republican delegates, supporters and members of the Republican party chanted 'fight' as he entered the convention hall.

Supporters on the convention floor and standing in the stadium sang along to a live rendition of "God Bless the USA" with singer Lee Greenwood as Trump waved to supporters and joined family members and new running mate JD Vance in their seats.

Trump wore a subdued look as the room around him erupted and chants of "USA" rang out. On Monday, delegates from across the country elected him as the Republican presidential nominee for the November 5 general election against incumbent Democratic President Joe Biden. However, Trump would deliver his acceptance speech on Thursday.

The delegation from Florida put him over the top, with Eric Trump awarding the state's delegates to his father. Several lawmakers and other officials spoke, including Representative Marjorie Taylor Greene, Senator Tim Scott, and Representative Byron Donalds. The Democratic party would formally nominate Biden as its candidate at its convention in Chicago in August.

Trump was accompanied by Senator J D Vance, his running mate. Earlier in the day, Trump announced that Vance would be his running mate. He was welcomed by the crowd with a thunderous applause.

During a radio interview earlier Monday, former White House physician Ronny Jackson said the bullet that grazed Trump took part of the top of his ear off.

"It just took the top of his ear off, a little bit of the top of his ear off, as it passed through," he was quoted by CNN. "It was bleeding like crazy."

Jackson said that Trump's injury is "dressed up. He'll be okay... it's going to granulate and heal in, and he's not going to need anything to be done with it."

Ignoring conventions Trump appeared in person on Day 1 at RNC. In 2020, which were scrambled by Covid, Trump was the only nominee going back to at least 2000 who has appeared in person at his convention early.

In 2016, he took the stage briefly on Night 1 after a WWE-style entrance, while Democratic nominee Hillary Clinton didn't appear in person until Night 3 of the Democratic convention when she appeared onstage alongside President Barack Obama after his speech.

Indian Americans mark their presence on first day of event

MILWAUKEE

FROM taking the floor to announce all-out support for Donald Trump to reciting Ardaas, Indian Americans attending in large numbers have made their mark on the first day of the high-profile Republican National Convention being held here, days after the party's presumptive presidential candidate survived an assassination bid.

Indian-American politician Abraham George, elected chairman of the Texas Republican Party in May, took to the floor to announce that all the delegates from his state were voting for Trump.

Harmeet Dhillon, RNC National Committeewoman from California, recited Ardaas (an appeal to God) at the convention, which officially nominated the 78-year-old former US president as the party's presidential candidate in the Nov 5 election.

Usha Vance, wife of Ohio Senator J D Vance, was also on the floor. There was a lot of excitement as Vance was announced as the running mate of Trump. Ohio State Senator Niraj Atani and Dr Sampat Shivangi were the other two Indian Americans on the floor as the delegates.

"This is a historic convention," Dr Shivangi said. "The entire party is now united and standing together with Trump," said Dr Shivangi who has attended six conventions so far.

Entrepreneur-turned-politician Vivek Ramaswamy and former South Carolina Governor Nikki Haley, the two Indian-origin politicians who contested and lost the race to Trump during the primaries, are scheduled to address the convention. PTI

BIDEN TO HIT CAMPAIGN TRAIL, WOO BLACKS

LAS VEGAS: President Joe Biden returns to the campaign trail Tuesday for the first time since the attempted assassination of his Republican rival, former President Donald Trump, aiming to sharpen the choice voters will face this November in the wake of the attack. Biden will speak at the NAACP convention in Las Vegas, aiming to showcase his administration's support for Black voters who are a tentpole of the Democratic coalition and of his personal political support. He'll also participate in an interview with BET. And a day later he'll address UnidosUS, looking to bolster his appeal to Latino voters, another crucial Democratic-leaning bloc.

Three killed in Bangla govt job quota protest

DHAKA

AT least three persons were killed in Bangladesh on Tuesday during violent clashes between rival groups over quotas for coveted government jobs, police said, a day after more than 400 people were injured.

Police fired tear gas and rubber bullets as students demanding quotas be cut battled with counter-protesters backing the ruling Awami League party, fighting with sticks and hurling rocks.

The violence is an escalation in efforts to hinder a determined campaign that has ignored calls by Bangladesh's prime minister and top court for the students to return to class. Students have for weeks staged near-daily protests demanding the government introduce a merit-based scheme instead. The quota scheme reserves more than half of well-paid civil service posts for specific groups, including children of heroes from the country's 1971 liberation war from Pakistan. Critics say the system benefits children of pro-government groups that back Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina, 76, who won her fourth consecutive election in January after a vote without genuine opposition. On Tuesday, opposing student groups marched in several locations around Dhaka, some throwing bricks at each other.

"Students were protesting in at least a dozen places in the capital," Dhaka Metropolitan Police spokesman Faruk Hossain said. Rallies elsewhere in Bangladesh were joined by hundreds of students, who blocked rail lines and highways. In Chittagong, a student and a labourer were killed.

NCLT admits insolvency proceedings against Byju's

Petition filed by BCCI against the edtech firm over a ₹158 crore debt

NCLT appoints Pankaj Srivastava as interim RP

The bench has appointed Pankaj Srivastava as an interim resolution professional to oversee functions of the firm. As per sources, Byju's is planning to challenge the order at NCLAT. BCCI and Byju's entered team sponsor agreement in 2019, and in 2022, Byju's made payment in full only against one invoice for year 2022-2023.

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT), Bengaluru bench, on Tuesday admitted an insolvency petition filed by the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI)against edtech firm Byju's over a ₹158 crore debt. Byju's, reached its peak valuation of $22 billion in 2022, has to face insolvency proceedings.

The bench has appointed Pankaj Srivastava as an interim resolution professional to oversee the functions of the company. According to sources, Byju's is planning to challenge the order at National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT). "As we have always maintained, we wish to reach an amicable settlement with the BCCI and we are confident that, despite this order, a settlement can be reached. In the meantime, our lawyers are reviewing the order and will take necessary steps to protect the Company's interests," a spokesperson from Byju's said.

Both BCCI and Byju's entered into a team sponsor agreement in 2019, and in 2022, Byju's made payment in full only against one invoice for the year 2022-2023. The edtech firm failed to make payments against the remaining invoices raised by the BCCI for the financial year 2022-23.

The NCLT dismissed an application by the edtech firm to refer the matter to arbitration. "It is abundantly clear as laid down by the Apex Court that the Adjudicating Authority has to either reject or admit the application and cannot postulate a third option. In this matter, the application U/s 9 of the IBC has been admitted by the Order passed today, therefore, the application for referring the matter for Arbitration is not maintainable," the order said.

Apart from BCCI, Oppo has also filed an insolvency plea against the firm. The edtech company has settled an insolvency case with Surfer Technologies and Teleperformance recently. Previously the NCLT had issued notices to Byju's parent Think and Learn in three cases due to claims of unpaid dues.

Bajaj Auto net profit rises 18% to ₹1,942 cr in June quarter of FY25

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

BAJAJ Auto on Tuesday said its consolidated profit after tax increased 18% to ₹1,942 crore for the first quarter ending June 30, 2024, aided by robust sales across domestic and export markets.

The automaker had reported a profit after tax of ₹1,644 crore in the same quarter of last fiscal. Total revenue from operations rose to ₹11,932 crore for the first quarter as against ₹10,312 crore in the year-ago period, Bajaj Auto said in a regulatory filing. On a standalone basis, the company reported a PAT of ₹1,988 crore, an increase of 19% as compared with ₹1,665 crore in the same period of last fiscal. Revenue from operations rose to ₹11,928 crore as against ₹10,310 crore in the June quarter of FY24.

The company said its total sales stood 11,02,056 units in the first quarter as against 10,27,407 units, an increase of 7%. It sold 6,90,621 units in the domestic market in the first quarter, an increase of 8% over 6,41,556 units in the year-ago period.

Exports increased 7% year-on-year at 4,11,435 units in the June quarter as agaist 3,85,851 units in the April-June quarter of last fiscal. Bajaj Auto said profit was driven by better realisation and cost reduction which more than offset the drag from the growing electric two-wheeler business.

FAME 3.0 to replace temporary scheme EMPS 2024

The third instalment of the FAME scheme will replace the temporary EMPS 2024, which is set to expire by the end of July. EMPS was launched in mid-March 2024. The ₹500 crore scheme, which replaced FAME 2, has failed to achieve the desired aim with just 3.6% of the targeted vehicle sales achieved so far

RUN-UP TO BUDGET

THE third phase Faster Adoption and Manufacturing of Hybrid and Electric Vehicles (FAME), the government's incentive scheme to promote green mobility will be announced in the near future but not in the upcoming Union Budget, H D Kumaraswamy, Union minister of heavy industries, said an event on Tuesday.

"FAME 3 preparatory work is going on. All seven ministries have sent their recommendations on implementing the FAME programme. It is going to be implemented in the coming days," the minister said on the sidelines of an industry event today.

While Kumaraswamy didn't give an exact timeline for the launch of the new scheme, he did confirm the scheme is in its final stages. His remark comes as automobile industry is pinning hope on incentives to boost electric vehicle (EV) sales.

The third instalment of the FAME scheme will replace the temporary Electric Mobility Promotion Scheme (EMPS) 2024, which is set to expire by the end of July. EMPS was launched in mid-March 2024. The ₹500 crore scheme, which replaced FAME 2, has failed to achieve the desired aim with just 3.6% of the targeted vehicle sales achieved so far. The FAME 2 scheme was rolled out in 2019 with an outlay of ₹10,000 crore for three years ending in 2022 but was extended to March 2024. It played an instrumental role in increasing the penetration of EVs in the Indian market.

Regarding tax reductions on hybrid vehicles, Kumaraswamy said Prime Minister Narendra Modi will take a call on the issue, with the finance ministry working on the roadmap ahead. On whether American electric carmaker Tesla has communicated its intention to invest in India under the new EV policy, he stated that nothing has been discussed yet.

Sebi moots new asset class for higher risk takers

ENS ECONOMI BUREAU @ Bengaluru

MARKET regulator Sebi has proposed a new asset class, primarily meant for high risk-takers that can bridge gap between mutual funds and portfolio management services offering flexibility in portfolio construction.

The Securities and Exchange Board consultation paper floated on Tuesday proposes a minimum investment of ₹10 lakh for this asset class that could be allowed to invest even in derivatives for purposes other than hedging and rebalancing.

It proposes a minimum investment of ₹10 lakh across strategies in this asset class, and the product will be riskier than traditionally offered by mutual funds and be branded differently and that all investments permissible to fund houses be available to this asset class. "The proposed asset class seeks to provide investors with a regulated investment product featuring higher risk-taking capabilities and a higher ticket size, aimed at curbing proliferation of unregistered and unauthorised investment products," says the paper.

Proposes minimum investment of ₹10 lakh

The paper proposes a minimum investment of ₹10 lakh across strategies in this asset class, and the product will be riskier than traditionally offered by mutual funds and be branded differently and that all investments permissible to fund houses be available to this asset class

Sebi said higher minimum investment is to deter retail investors from entering this space. The minimum investment amount under new asset class shall be ₹10 lakh per investor within AMC/MF. This means an investor must park a minimum of ₹10 lakh across investment strategies under the new asset class offered. This threshold shall deter retail investors from investing in this product, while attracting investors with investible funds between ₹10 lakh and ₹50 lakh, who are being drawn to unauthorised and unregistered portfolio management service providers".

The new asset class can invest in derivatives as a way to take exposure in the market, and not just to hedge or rebalance the portfolio. It has suggested the following three conditions under which this can be done. One, the cumulative gross exposure via investable instruments including derivatives and any other instruments should not exceed 100% of net assets of the investment strategy. Secondly, exposure via exchange traded derivative instruments should not exceed 50% of net assets of an investment strategy but this cap need not be applicable to index funds or ETFs launched under the new asset class, on indices specified by the Sebi.

APPROVES $2.8 BL SOFT LOAN FOR COMMERCIAL BANKS

Thailand's Cabinet on Tuesday approved a 100 billion-baht ($2.8 bn) soft loan scheme for commercial banks so they could on-lend to borrowers at below-market rates, a deputy finance minister said. The programme is aimed at helping smaller businesses obtain loans. State-owned Government Savings Bank will offer liquidity to commercial banks through loans at an interest rate of 0.01% so they can lend to small businesses at a rate of no more than 3.5%. Retail lending rates among Thai banks are currently more than 7%. The programme will be offered for a period of two years to smaller firms, the government said in a statement. The government has said the scheme is a response to tightened lending by banks amid a slow economic recovery and rising bad debt. Prime Minister Srettha Thavisin has promised additional measures next week, including support for high electricity prices.

IMF raises India's growth forecast by 20 bps to 7% for FY2024-25

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE International Monetary Fund (IMF) on Tuesday raised India growth projection for 2024-25 by 20 basis points to 7% amid a boost in private consumption, especially in rural areas.

"The forecast for growth in India has been revised upward, to 7%, this year, with the change reflecting carryover from upward revisions to growth in 2023 and improved prospects for private consumption, particularly in rural areas," IMF's World Economic Outlook said.

In 2025-26, the IMF expects growth to slow to 6.5%, the same as what was projected in its April review. GDP expanded at 8.2% in 2023-24, which was higher than the 7% in 2022-23, helped by a greater than expected expansion of 7.8% in the fourth quarter, as per the provisional estimates of GDP growth released by the National Statistical Office (NSO). The RBI has projected the Indian economy to grow at 7.2% in FY25.

RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das last month said India was moving towards a path where 8% GDP growth could be sustained on a yearly basis for a longer term. Meanwhile, the IMF report has upgraded growth forecast for China for calendar year 2024 by 40bps to 5% on rebound in private consumption and strong exports in Q1.

Eveready expects 10% topline growth this fiscal on distribution channel rejig

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

LARGEST battery (dry-cell) and flashlight brand Eveready is expecting a 10% growth in topline this fiscal on the back of the just-completed distribution channel rejig wherein it has slashed the number of distributors to just about 1,100 from over 5,000 earlier.

The 90-year-old brand, launched way back in 1934, has been leader in dry cell battery market for decades, and have sold billions of batteries and flashlights/torchlights. Over years, it has become synonymous with the industry.

Eveready Industries sells about 1.4 billion batteries and 25 million flash lights annually and its entire production is sold in the domestic market. Across its three battery plants, the company has an installed capacity for 1.7 billion annually. Its plants are located in Matia, Lucknow, Noida, Haridwar, Maddur, and Kolkata, are at running at around 85% capacity now.

Business is looking good. Even though inflation is biting consumer spending, sales have been good so far this fiscal as against flat volumes and topline last fiscal. This was because we were reducing the number of distributors and as a result their number has come down to just about 1,100 now from over 5,000, Suvamoy Saha, managing director of Eveready, told TNIE here on Tuesday.

"We closed FY24 with flat revenue at ₹1,350 crore from which we earned about ₹65 crore, which grew by over 10 percent, primarily because of premiumisation and soft commodity prices. We are confident of closing this fiscal with at least 10 percent growth in revenue and over 10 percent uptick in bottom line," he added.

On the reduction in the number of distributors, he said 4,000-plus have been made sub-distributors now and this was primarily done from a servicing angle as most of them were in far flung areas and servicing them was a big challenge.

Budget '25 should prioritise AI research, cut GST on upskilling programmes: Experts

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

As IT companies are increasingly focusing on Artificial Intelligence and Generative AI use cases, experts say the upcoming Budget should promote AI research and implementation apart from focusing on upskilling programmes.

In the interim Budget, finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman had announced that three centres of excellence for Artificial Intelligence would be set-up in top educational institutions. Hari Krishnan Nair, co-founder, Great Learning, said India has been a vital hub for outsourcing services. "With the increasing number of global companies establishing their global capability centres (GCCs) in India, equipping our workforce with cutting-edge skills not only enhances employability but also positions India as a preferred destination for high-value projects and international business operations."

He hopes that in the upcoming budget, the government takes measures to reduce GST on upskilling and reskilling programs. "Incorporating upskilling programmes into educational loan schemes is crucial. Currently, these programmes do not fall under the purview of educational loans, resulting in higher interest rates for learners," he added.

Talent with new skills challenge for GCCs in India

A Nasscom report points out that given the competitive talent market, availability, attraction & retention of niche talent, building a pipeline of readily deployable talent with the new emerging skills, finding and nurturing, talent equipped for global leadership positions and cost arbitrage have emerged as key challenging factors facing GCCs in India.

As per Nasscom report, India is estimated to have over 1,900 GCCs by 2025 with a market size of $60 billion. The report points out that given the competitive talent market, availability, attraction & retention of niche talent, building a pipeline of readily deployable talent with the new emerging skills, finding and nurturing, talent equipped for global leadership positions and cost arbitrage have emerged as key challenging factors facing GCCs in India.

Top IT companies are training their workforce in emerging technologies including Gen AI. Veerasundar V, chief financial officer, Simplilearn, said the government should reconsider the 18% GST on educational products as it would ease the burden on middle-class families.

Cyclist withdraws from Tour de France due to Covid symptoms

Chris Harper of Australia has withdrawn from the Tour de France ahead of Tuesday's 16th stage, his team said, as Covid-19 infections continue to hit cycling's marquee event. The Jayco Alula team said that Harper "is suffering from Covid symptoms and following medical advice he will return home to rest and recover properly for the next goals."

Pistol ace Manu Bhaker, in a freewheeling chat with Indraneel Das, reflects on the lessons she has acquired the hard way over the years, her vital association with personal coach Jaspal Rana and her change in mindset heading into her second Olympic Games in Paris

Manu in peace for Paris

DON'T take pressure anymore. Confident. Matured. Days before the Paris Olympics, Manu Bhaker was at peace with herself. Joie de vivre is back. There was no visible anxiety in her voice. Each word she spoke was measured and there was clarity. The wound of Tokyo 2020 has healed but traces of the scar still remain. She has grown. A teenager then and a woman now. The maturity is vividly visible in her approach to sport in particular and life in general. She wants to be braver this time and enjoy it. When she steps into the Chateauroux Shooting Range, a venue that's two and half hours away from Paris, it will be with great expectation and hope.

The past is there to remind her of struggles but that gives her more courage. She was not masking her apparent displeasure of a frosty relationship between her 'coach' and her during and after Tokyo. That had been one of the worst phases and she was quite bold to admit it. Now that she is back with her old coach things have fallen into place. 'He' is how she addresses her coach Jaspal Rana and mentor, one who does 'everything' for her. The 'He' sounded like a higher being, one who is omnipresent and always there. Words like "He is like a father figure" and "Looking at him gives me courage" only fortify her faith in him. She felt his training rituals suit her and going to Dehradun (Jaspal's academy) for training is soothing. "He just knows me," she would say.

Former Asian Games champion Jaspal had been moulding her and like in all relationships, that too hit its nadir just before Tokyo Games. Sitting by the pool in a plush hotel just after the trials got over in Bhopal in May, Manu spoke about days when she lost interest in the sport and was planning to stop shooting; the rigmarole of putting the relationship back was taxing too. She had to pick and sew every piece back. She has been in pristine form since then. "Now, I just enjoy the sport," she said. "I shoot and leave everything to God." There is pressure but the 22-year-old shooter has learnt to cope with it. "I don't take pressure anymore. Sometimes I'm nervous. So when it (nervousness) happens, I think about a movie or some conversation. Sometimes life moments too. I don't look at other people."

Tokyo was one of her toughest moments and Manu has learnt quite a few lessons. "Earlier when I used to lose, it would take days to recover," she said. "But after years of shooting, I have realized thinking about it for three or four days is fine. I have learnt that more than that (four days) is of no use. People forget with time so should you. Your successes and you not doing well should not define how good you are or how good you were. I have won so many competitions but after losing in Tokyo, people were like..." she pauses "...so there is no point. It doesn't matter."

In terms of preparations this time, it has been purposeful and Manu is taking a different approach with a bid to make amends with her last approach. The 22-year-old has won medals galore. One silverware that is missing from her cabinet is the Olympic medal. Manu goes into the upcoming Games as one India's biggest medal hopes. She'll be competing in three events — 10m air pistol, 25m pistol and 10m air pistol mixed team. "Honestly, I want to be braver this time," she said. "I was not brave last time. There is not something that I would love to change in myself. I should not be too conservative and not talk to people and live in a bubble. Stick to my routine and see how it goes. He (coach) used to take us for table tennis (during CWG). Even in this competition, we will find something like table tennis. He will not let me try new things so close to the competition."

Manu is one of the few athletes who does not believe in psychologists either. "It doesn't work for me," she said, adding her coach took care of that too. When it comes to fitness and eye sight, she is very serious. She understands how critical eye sight is and undergoes routine tests every month. "I have a 6/6 vision but there is slight power as well," she said. "I get my eyes checked every month. My coach is very strict with that."

Apart from the tests, Manu restricts her screen time to avoid straining her eyes. "It's one or two hours a day and that is also because I have timers on my phone that I use for shooting. Sometimes I go to Youtube and listen to music. Then there are WhatsApp messages and calls. And violin classes online. I don't do anything else on my phone. Then I speak with my mother. She tells me some fascinating stories."

Manu also veered into the touchy topic of her relationship with Jaspal and how things got better. "We have had a lot of rough patches also," she said. "And we have had the worst times that anyone can have in a relationship. We have had a fair share of that. Coming out of that, I think we have come out stronger. There is a phase when everyone says that whatever happens, it happens for good. But sometimes it feels very irritating when people say things like this. When everything is going wrong then how can people say everything happens for good? So I do not believe in it. Earlier, it was like this but now whatever happens, I have faith in God and I will trust my coach. I believe whatever relationship gets back to normal after a rough patch, I think it gets stronger."

"It was refreshing to get back with him actually," she said. "His working patterns are more suitable for me. Going to Dehradun relaxes me a lot. Being in Delhi all the time was a bit hectic for me. We have competitions at the Dr Karni Shooting Ranges and no matter whether you are shooting or not, so many people would be around you all the time. And I would always feel the responsibility that I need to be a good shooter. People would look up to me or follow me. Many youngsters would say 'didi we started shooting after seeing you.' I respect all of that but sometimes when I am not shooting during competitions, I would like to relax. I do not want to keep thinking that I have to work hard and be under some kind of mental pressure."

It's not about technique any more. Jaspal doubles up as her fitness and mental trainer. He knows when to push and she knows what they are capable of together. "Early on in your career, like two-three years, you need to focus on your technique and learn. And after that it is more mental. Last Olympic cycle, I had psychologists also but I don't think I am made for this. He is the mental coach for me. He charts all my highs and lows; peaks and losses; competitions to participate and not to participate. For workouts also he pushes me. He is a yoga coach."

Apart from shooting, Manu is learning to play the violin. This is another vocation she wants to continue. The Olympics are just a week away and the expectations on her shoulder like last time would be immense. Yet, if she enjoys the sport and stays positive and brave, the scars of Tokyo too can heal. As of now, over to Chateauroux.

I was not brave last time (Tokyo). There is not something that I would love to change in myself. I should not be too conservative and not talk to people and live in a bubble. I want to be a little more free — Manu Bhaker, Shooter

Aishwary's pursuit of Olympic medal & lifting his academy kids

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

At the age of 14, Aishwary Pratap Singh Tomar had to move away from his family in his bid to pursue his passion for shooting. The 300-plus km journey he undertook from Khargone to Bhopal in Madhya Pradesh nine years ago has been paying off as Tomar is set to represent the country at the Paris Olympics, his second appearance in the Games, in the men's 50m rifle 3 positions.

An established shooter now with medals in junior and senior World Championships apart from World Cups and Asian Championships, Tomar understands the pains an athlete goes through in order to achieve his/her goals.

While it all is part and parcel of the game, he decided to alleviate the pain to some extent for aspiring shooters of his town by opening an academy in Khargone. He not only spent around ₹6-7 lakh to buy weapons for the purpose but also donated training gears including shooting jackets and trousers to the academy started at his alma mater around one-and-a-half-years ago. "I have studied in that school. I had to leave my family and friends to pursue my passion so I thought why not start a facility in Khargone for those who are interested in shooting? So I along with my cousin, Navdeep Singh Rathore — also an international shooter — set up a 10m range in the school. I bought weapons worth ₹5-6 lakh and donated my shooting clothing as well," Aishwary told this daily.

Aishwary makes sure he visits the place every time he is in the town. "A full-time coach is imparting the training. He coordinates with us on a daily basis. I also visit the facility whenever I am in town. I interact with trainees and try my best to motivate them and clear their doubts."

Presently, around 30-40 children are being trained at the facility. While students are being trained during school hours, other aspirants too can use the facility later in the day. "The move was also aimed at popularising the sport. The school director is a sports enthusiast and he paved the way for setting up the academy. I have been winning medals for the country for years now with newspapers carrying the stories with my pictures but people in Khargone were still unaware of the sport.

"At least, they now know there is a shooting academy in the district where those interested can get the basic training," he added.

— Aishwary Pratap Singh Tomar, Shooter

The Indian shooting contingent reached Luxembourg ahead of the 2024 Paris Games and Tomar is confident ahead of his event. "The preparations are better than the Tokyo Olympics. The last Games was the learning curve and it has helped me improve a lot. I have worked on delivering my best during pressure situations. I have also worked on breathing exercises and mindset. Whatever we have to do, we are done with it. Now we will train normally and avoid experimenting with new things," the shooter said.

Instead of looking at his rivals and what they can bring to the table in Paris, the Indian shooter is banking on his game and the efforts he has made in the last couple of years. "Shooting is an individual sport, so I am focussing on my game irrespective of what my rivals will do. It doesn't matter how good or bad they are. What matters is my show on a given day and I have worked on that."

Compatriot Swapnil Kusale will be one of his rivals at the Games and Aishwary strongly believes the healthy competition between the duo has motivated him to do better.

"I have been training alongside him (Kusale) for quite some time now. We are rivals once we enter the shooting range. Apart from that, we always enjoy each other's success. He is like an elder brother to me who is by my side whenever I don't do well."

He might not have achieved the desired results at the Tokyo Games but Aishwary is determined to give his best this time around. "I will try to give my best and expect our shooting contingent to win a bagful of medals for the country at the event," Aishwary signed off.

The 26-year-old rose five spots in the latest ATP ranking list released on Monday. His previous best was 71. Nagal thus moves past former world No. 71 Sashi Menon to become the fourth highest-ranked Indian man since 1973.

World Jr squash: Bawa assures India of medal

NEW DELHI: India's Shaurya Bawa guaranteed himself of a medal as he moved to the semifinals with a hard fought 3-2 win over Malaysian Low Wa-Sern in the World Junior Squash Championships in Houston. The 18-year-old from Delhi, thus, becomes only the second Indian male to reach the semifinals after Kush Kumar, who reached the last four stage in 2014.

117 players, 140 support staff cleared by min for Oly

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

A TOTAL of 117 athletes and 140 support staff will be part of the Indian contingent taking part at the 2024 Paris Olympics scheduled from July 16 to August 11. The ministry of sports and youth affairs on Tuesday gave its approval to the contingent as sought by the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) in the past. he group of athletes comprises 47 women and 70 men. Among the approved support staff, 67 will be accommodated at the Games Village while the remaining will be accommodated in hotels and locations outside the Games Village.

As many as 18 support personnel, the most for any discipline, will accompany shooters. For track and field athletes, 17 support staff have been approved. Interestingly, for six wrestlers (five women and a men), a group of 18 support staff has been approved — five of them will stay at the Games Village. "The permissible limit for stay of support staff personnel in the Games Village against accreditation as per norms of the Paris Organising Committee for the 2024 Olympic Games is 67 including 11 IOA contingent officials, which includes 5 medical team members. For catering to the requirements of the athletes, additional coaches and other support staff numbering 72 have been approved at cost to the government and arrangements for their stay have been made in hotels/in locations outside the Games Village," read the approval letter. The four golfers and seven support staff, however, will stay in a hotel near the competition venue — which is located approximately one hour from the Games village.

₹7 lakh for driver

The organising committee will also provide three cars for the contingent members without drivers. As per the letter, Embassy of India at Paris has been requested to assist in identification and temporary employment of these drivers. Each driver will be paid a whopping Euro 8000 (approx ₹7.27 lakh) for the duration starting from July 15 to August 14. The SAI will make the requisite payments from the funds made available to it under the Scheme of Assistance to the National Sports Federations.

The letter also said the IOA, SAI, National Anti-Doping Agency and NSFs concerned may take appropriate measures for conducting the dope tests. It also said that IOA may also ensure fitness of the team/individual sportspersons prior to their departure.

Southgate quits as England manager after Euro final

AGENCIES @London

GARETH Southgate resigned as England manager on Tuesday, two days after they lost to Spain in the Euro 2024 final, with Prince William describing him as an "all-round class act". "It's time for change, and for a new chapter. Sunday's final in Berlin against Spain was my final game as England manager," Southgate said in a statement.

William, who attended the 2-1 defeat to Spain in his role as Football Association president, paid a fulsome tribute to Southgate on social media. "Thank you for showing humility, compassion, and true leadership under the most intense pressure and scrutiny," said the heir to the British throne. "And thank you for being an all-round class act. You should be incredibly proud of what you've achieved." The names immediately mentioned as 53-year-old Southgate's successor are Newcastle manager Eddie Howe, and two former Chelsea managers, Graham Potter and Mauricio Pochettino. Southgate took over in 2016 when England exited the Euros after defeat to Iceland and then Roy Hodgson's successor Sam Allardyce had to resign over a scandal.

NEW GALACTICO

My dream has come true, says Mbappe at Real Madrid unveiling

AGENCIES @ Madrid

FRENCH superstar Kylian Mbappe was officially unveiled as a Real Madrid player on Tuesday, telling 80,000 fans "my dream has come true".

The striker, who had completed his medical earlier on Tuesday morning, signed a five-year contract and was handed a No. 9 shirt by club president Florentino Perez. "Wow," Mbappe said in Spanish to roars from a packed Santiago Bernabeu Stadium. "For years I've dreamed of playing for Real Madrid and today my dream has come true," said the 25-year-old former Paris Saint-Germain player. "I'm a happy boy. I'm going to give my life for this club," said Mbappe.

Accompanied by his parents watching from the crowd and with a former French hero of the club, Zinedine Zidane, in attendance, Mbappe was emotional as the crowd chanted his name, and at one point kissed the jersey of the reigning Spanish and European champions. Mbappe is "an exceptional player who comes to help us continue winning, a player who today fulfils the dream of his life," said Perez. "Welcome to your home." Although his new teammates began training on Monday, the forward, who captained France during their unsuccessful Euros campaign, will have a few more days off before kicking off his season in the Spanish capital. The unveiling of Real's latest Galactico allowed its fans to continue celebrating following Spain's Euro 2024 triumph on Sunday. The crowd was expected to be bigger than that 15 years ago when Cristiano Ronaldo was unveiled.

The free tickets were snapped up rapidly with some fans reportedly trying to resell them to take advantage of the hype surrounding the arrival of arguably the world's best striker. At Real, Mbappe will form part of an offensive trio alongside England midfielder Jude Bellingham and Brazil attacker Vinicius Junior under the watch of veteran Italian coach Carlo Ancelotti.

That prospect is already exciting fans of the club who won their 15th Champions League title in June. Los Blancos begin the defence of their La Liga crown with a match against Real Mallorca on the weekend of August 17-18.

Mbappe's debut might have to wait until the following week when Real Madrid face Real Valladolid who were recently promoted from the second division.

No one owns the Moon

Colonisation of the Moon has been envisaged as early as the first half of the 17th century by John Wilkins in A Discourse Concerning a New Planet. This was furthered in the 20th century Space Race, when the first artificial objects reached the Moon after 1959, starting with the Luna 1 module of the Soviet Union. In 1969, Apollo 11 crew planted the first US flag on the Moon, and yet no one can stake claim to its ownership.

Colonisation drives a very negative connotation, especially speaking in terms of modern history. Much of the nations of today, have endured some sort of colonisation of the other.

Likewise, the usage of 'Colonisation of the Moon' has mixed meanings for different theorists. Often used as a synonym for its more specific element of settling the Moon (the establishing and expanding of lunar habitation), lunar or space colonisation as a whole has become contested for perpetuating colonialism and its exploitive logic in space. Here, it is very important to note that laying claim to the Moon has been declared illegal through international space law and no state has made such claims, despite having a range of probes and artificial remains on the Moon.

Living on Luna

Caves have been found under the Moon's surface, indicating a probable shelter for future researchers, while NASA is already planning a 'Gateway'. Today, human lunar habitation is not just theory, but a serious area for scientific study

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE

WHEN Neil Armstrong first stepped on the Moon, from Apollo 11's lunar module, on July 20, 1969, his iconic words – "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind" – were more than a catchphrase for posterity. They reflected the futuristic fascination that drew the human species to the Moon and beyond, for the purpose of adventure, science, exploration, and at present hypothetically-speaking, 'colonisation'.

The Moon, being the Earth's nearest celestial object, has particularly evoked immense interest for its sheer majesty, and also as a gateway to further future cosmic odysseys. Accordingly, astrophysicists and the pundits of sci-fi have charted a theoretical roadmap for colonisation of the Moon. The idea is that in the future, humans may live and work on the moon for weeks or even months. It is a process or concept employed by some proposals for robotic or human exploitation and settlement endeavours on Earth's natural satellite. Energy and power will make it possible to travel to and live on the lunar surface. Humans must choose the appropriate energy source and technological means to produce that power. Solar energy is abundant on the moon, and ways must be found to effectively harness it.

While a range of proposals for missions of lunar colonisation, exploitation or permanent exploration have been raised, current projects for establishing a permanent crewed presence on the Moon are not for colonisation, but to focus on building moonbases for exploration and to a lesser extent for harnessing lunar resources. In reality, currently, global space agencies, including India's ISRO, are looking at studying specific regions of the lunar surface, so as to understand the scientific potential that the Moon may unlock, as we dive deeper into space.

When we talk about looking at a suitable perennial energy resource to run extended lunar missions, in the form of crewed stations, one must also take into account the topography and environment of the Moon. The Moon is not one smooth white/grey ball of rock. It's surface is composed of Anorthosite, which is a calcium-rich white rock, almost entirely made up of plagioclase feldspar, a common, light-weight, light-coloured mineral on Earth. It is an igneous rock, which means it cooled and solidified from hot melted material.

Also, the Moon's environment is not nearly as easy to live in as Earth's. Apart from the toxic lunar dust, the sparse atmosphere provides no protection from meteorites or radiation. The temperature fluctuations on the Moon are also intense, ranging from -248 to 127 degrees Celsius. This again leads to the question of how can the Moon be made more survivable, begging the need for shelters. In addition to protecting inhabitants from meteorites, radiation and toxic lunar dust, a sealed shelter would allow them to breathe. While the pursued purpose of moonbases is mostly for space exploration, exploiting and commercialising the Moon, it also theoretically advocates for a lunar and cis-lunar infrastructure, economy and settled society. Hence, conditions ought to be appropriated.

Discovery of a cave

In this direction, just this week, a team of international scientists, under the lead of the University of Trento, Italy, have made a breakthrough. They published a paper in Nature Astronomy, demonstrating the existence of a tunnel in the lunar subsurface. It seems to be an empty lava tube, which could pave the way for human habitation on the Moon. "These caves have been theorised for over 50 years, but it is the first time ever that we have demonstrated their existence," explains Lorenzo Bruzzone, professor at the University of Trento.

How was this demonstration achieved? Bruzzone explains: "In 2010, as part of the ongoing LRO NASA mission, the Miniature Radio-Frequency (Mini-RF) instrument acquired data that included a pit in Mare Tranquilitatis. Years later we have reanalysed this data with complex signal processing techniques we have recently developed, and have discovered radar reflections from the area of the pit that are best explained by an underground cave conduit. This discovery provides the first direct evidence of an accessible lava tube under the surface of the Moon."

"Thanks to the analysis of the data we were able to create a model of a portion of the conduit," continues Leonardo Carrer, researcher at University of Trento. This study has scientific implications for the development of missions to the Moon, where the environment is hostile to human life. The aforesaid conditions drive the need to find safe sites for the construction of infrastructure that can support sustained exploration. Caves such as this one offer a solution to that problem, the scientists conclude.

Breathing on the Moon is out of question. The Moon technically does have an atmosphere, but the gases are so spread out that they do not support breathing.

Experiments on the International Space Station have shown how recycling air systems could be adapted for the Moon. This could look like planting oxygen-emitting plants in lunar greenhouses, and then sending the purified air through sealed habitation pods. This would be an entirely new way of life that humans would need to adapt to. Also, producing and storing food to survive long periods in an alien world is key.

How can food be cultivated 384,400 km from our planet, at a place lacking requisite air, soil, or water? Lunar soil does not contain reactive nitrogen, a mineral that is necessary for plant growth. In a 2019 study, researchers were able to harvest tomatoes, peas, radishes, cress, and rye from simulated lunar soil. Also, greenhouses can simulate Earth-like soil conditions. The said research is able to depict a plausible way how fresh food can be harvested on the lunar surface. Another issue is about watering the crops. While the discovery of detectable molecular water on the near side of the Moon in October 2020 suggests that water may be more widespread, and not limited to the far side and colder regions, it is still to be seen how easily it can be accessed. If this lunar water is clean and easily attainable, it would be much quicker and economical than shuttling water from Earth. In addition, NASA is currently able to grow food on the space station. This promising development could be replicated in other microgravity environments, such as the Moon.

First lunar station

The future is now. NASA and its partners are already developing the foundational systems needed for long-term exploration of the Moon, with the Artemis campaign. "Following the Artemis III mission that will land the first people near the Moon's South Pole, astronauts on Artemis IV will live and work in humanity's first lunar space station, Gateway, which will enable new opportunities for science and preparation for human missions to Mars. The mission will bring together an intricate choreography of multiple launches and spacecraft dockings in lunar orbit, and will feature the debut of NASA's larger, more powerful version of its SLS (Space Launch System) rocket and new mobile launcher," says NASA.

The Moon is even closer to the Earth today, than it actually is. It is technically possible to live on the Moon, say scientists, but many small steps for science and sustainability are needed, before that giant leap.

WEAVING THE SPIRIT OF INDIA

At the opening ceremony of the Paris 2024 Olympics on July 26, Indian athletes will sport celeb designer Tarun Tahiliani's specially-designed creations

A 'kurta bundi' set for sportsmen and a re-imagined saree in viscose crepe for sportswomen

RESHMI CHAKRAVORTY

AT the upcoming Paris 2024 Olympics, set to begin on July 26, two-time Olympic medallist badminton champion PV Sindhu will be the woman flag bearer for India accompanied by Bengaluru athletes Rohan Bopanna, Ashwini Ponnappa, and Lakshaya Sen, during the opening ceremony. She will be wearing creations by celebrity designer Tarun Tahiliani, featuring ikat-inspired prints and Banarasi brocade. These designs marry craftsmanship with brand Tasva's 'India Modern' ethos. CE speaks to the designer, who has a flagship store in Bengaluru, about what went behind creating the Ceremonial Dresses for Team India athletes and more.

Tell us about your experience working for Ceremonial Dress for Team India.

Designing the Ceremonial Dress for Team India has been immensely rewarding. It is a great honour and responsibility to present our champions on the global stage. It was also an opportunity to showcase India modern to the world.

Collaborating closely with the Indian Olympic Association and understanding the specific needs of the athletes allowed us to create garments that embody national pride and tradition while offering exceptional functionality and comfort. We retained the key traditional elements of the kurta bundi set and the saree and gave it a modern twist to make it more convenient.

Seeing our athletes dressed in our designs fills me with immense pride. As our athletes sail past the Seine river during the opening ceremony, they will carry a piece of India with them, making a bold statement in the fashion capital of the world.

What were the pointers you kept in mind while designing?

While designing the Ceremonial Dress, several key considerations guided the process. Firstly, it was essential to honour India's rich cultural heritage while incorporating modern elements to reflect the dynamic spirit of our nation. We focussed on the tricolour palette and ikat-inspired prints, which resonate across diverse traditions.

Athlete-centric design was paramount. Comfort and functionality were crucial to ensure that the garments not only looked good but also supported the athletes' needs. The attire had to be breathable and lightweight to suit the summer heat of Paris.

Every design choice, from safari pockets and pre-pleated sarees, to modern brocade trainers, was made to celebrate our heritage while prioritising the athletes' comfort and performance.

Tell us about the creations. What can we see our athletes wear?

We wanted to create something modern yet deeply rooted in tradition. Drawing inspiration from the bundi jacket, we've infused modern silhouettes and layers, offering a fresh take on a classic style.

The ceremonial attire celebrates India's rich cultural tapestry and patriotic spirit, reflected in the iconic tricolour palette of saffron, green, and white. Each element tells the story of India. We have used ikat-inspired printed panels in saffron and green, blue buttonholes representing the Ashoka Chakra, and ivory for peace and unity.

Designed for comfort and style, the classic kurta and Aligarhi combination in pure cotton ensures fluidity for unrestricted movement. Every detail, from the tape detailing to the safari pockets, is meticulously crafted. For women athletes, we have made a pre-pleated saree in viscose crepe for natural drape and breathability, paired with a viscose satin lycra blouse for maximum comfort.

The look is completed with modern trainers adorned with traditional Benaras brocade, seamlessly blending tradition with contemporary fashion.

Were there any challenges while conceptualising it?

One of the primary challenges was achieving the perfect balance between tradition and modernity. Convincing the association to use the tricolour for the ceremonial dress was particularly significant, as India had not used the tricolour in this context before. It was important to illustrate how the tricolour could effectively symbolise our national pride and unity.

Future projects?

Currently I working on a few future projects with launch of our ready-to-wear women's wear line and OTT shows.

CELEBRATING INDIGENOUS TRADITIONS

To mark the first anniversary of the Australian Consulate-General in B'luru, an exhibition, showcasing sacred aboriginal traditions, is being held starting Thursday

EXPRESS FEATURES

IN an era where cultural preservation is paramount, celebrating and showcasing indigenous traditions holds significant value. The exhibition Walking Through A Songline, set to be the attraction at the Science Gallery Bengaluru on Bellary Road exemplifies this through a captivating blend of ancient tradition and modern technology. This immersive multimedia installation, brought to the city by the Australian Consulate-General, will be showcased from July 18 to August 18, offering visitors a unique opportunity to delve into the ancient Aboriginal Australian knowledge that has been passed down through generations.

Hilary McGeachy, Consul General of the Australian Consulate-General in Bengaluru, highlights the exhibition's alignment with the recently-opened Science Gallery's mission. "This exhibition marks the one-year anniversary of the Australian Consulate-General in Bengaluru. Walking Through A Songline is a natural fit for the Science Gallery, as an exhibition which demonstrates the potential of new technologies to preserve art and cultural legacies. This is an opportunity for those in Bengaluru to experience a dynamic showcase of the oldest continuous culture on earth."

At its core, Walking Through A Songline is more than just an art exhibition. It is an invitation to experience the sacred Aboriginal tradition of Songlines or Dreaming Tracks – pathways of knowledge that map the routes and activities of ancestral beings across Australia. These tracks are brought to life through vibrant digital projections, allowing visitors to 'walk' a digital 'songline' and immerse themselves in stories which are part of a sacred Aboriginal tradition and have shaped one of the world's oldest continuous cultures.

Produced by the National Museum of Australia in collaboration with Australia's Mosster Studio, and with the ongoing support of traditional Aboriginal custodians and knowledge holders, this exhibition uses contemporary technology in preserving and sharing ancient cultural legacies.

Margo Ngawa Neale, Emeritus Curatorial Fellow, First Nations, National Museum of Australia, emphasises the contemporary relevance of these ancient stories "Although this story has ancient origins, it has critical contemporary relevance and by using dynamic, contemporary technology we can bring this First Nations songline to Indian audiences."

> [The exhibition] demonstrates the potential of new technologies to preserve art and cultural legacies...a dynamic showcase of the oldest continuous culture on earth

THE QUIZ WILL BE PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress@gmail.com with the subject line 'Know Your City Quiz' Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE.

1. Of the many elements of urban scape that characterise the city's history, religious shrines are the prominent ones. Some of the oldest shrines in Bengaluru have even lent their identity to the streets and roads they are located on. For instance 'Temple Street' in Malleswaram, one of the oldest extensions of Bengaluru, is well known. The street today has evolved into a cultural hub with the city's own festival Kadlekai Parishe (originally held in Basavanagudi every year) being held here lately. Which historic temple here has lent its identity to the street?

2. Church Street, an iconic road, is one of the most happening streets of Bengaluru with live music performances, nightlife, art exhibitions, and cultural events. The street owes its name to a historic church which was then located at the western end of the street. Name the church which was founded in 1808, ravaged by fire in 1923, and was restored and reconstructed to its original glory in 1927. St Patrick's Church or St Mark's Cathedral?

3. Located in Fraser Town – one of the oldest extensions of the Cantonment formed in the year 1906 and named after the then British Resident Stuart M Fraser – Mosque Road turns into a culinary hotspot in the holy month of Ramadan with people from all faiths thronging to experience the iftaar treats offered all along the street. Name the iconic mosque which has lent its identity to the street named after a noted philanthropist and businessman of the time.

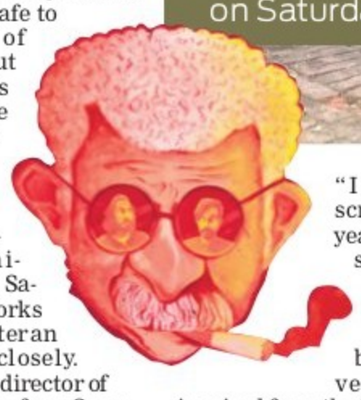
An actor's dilemma

The play Waiting for Naseer will be premiering on veteran actor Naseeruddin Shah's birthday on Saturday

MONIKA MONALISA

IT'S on the wishlist of many to watch veteran actor Naseeruddin Shah perform live on stage. But how often might you get a chance to see two 'dead actors' debating on who should get to see him first? Spoiler alert but not really! The philosophical-comedy drama Waiting for Naseer is exactly about this but much more. The two actors – a veteran and a novice – are waiting at the Prithvi Theatre cafe to catch a show of Shah's new play but the situation gets weirder because only one of them is entitled to a ticket despite being 'dead'.



The play is written by Mumbai-based playwright Sapan Saran, who works with theatre veteran Sunil Shanbag closely. Srinivas Beesetty, director of the play, got to know from Saran that Shah knows about the story and 'has mostly read it too'.

"I read the script about a year ago, and since then, I've been wanting to work on it, because it's very loosely inspired from the famous play, Waiting for Godot by [Irish playwright] Samuel Beckett," says Beesetty. It does not go much into the depth of existentialism as in Beckett's work but it explores the wait in an actor's life. "It is about the wait for that moment an actor goes on stage and emotes. It tries to show that no one can wait the way an actor can wait which could be either for the right role or ahead of a performance," says Beesetty.

A still from the play

Spilling some beans about what to expect from the play, the director says, "There is a scene in the play where one character is an experienced theatre actor and the other one is an aspiring actor, who died young, having a conversation about who is worthy of the ticket. That's interesting to watch."

One of the many challenges he faced was slotting the play in the right category. "I don't know what genre it fits into because there's obviously a lot of comedy. It's relatable with acting and theatre, but there's also a lot of philosophy behind the lines being said. That's why we termed it as a philosophical comedy. That's what the author also sees by herself," he explains.

A theatre actor himself, Beesetty somewhat relates to the two lead characters. Being a huge fan of Shah, the team also wanted to invite him to the play, which happens to be the veteran actor's birthday– July 20. "In 2009, when I came to Bengaluru for the first time to do my MBA, I watched his live performance for the first time on stage at Chowdiah Memorial Hall. Even while working on a theatre festival, I worked closely with him," recalls Beesetty, adding that he hopes one day the veteran watches the show.

(Waiting for Naseer will premiere on July 20, at Jagriti Theatre, Whitefield. Tickets avilable on bookmyshow.com)

How does one set up a bookstore?

With the habit of reading books significantly down, people are sceptical about the viability of being in this business. But society needs bookshops. Here are some tips to get you started:

Location and store design: Pick one where your target audience is expected to be 'hanging around', like busy malls and markets. If you can position your store to be a destination in itself, then you can go off the high street.

Curation: Select titles that cater to your target audience. You can focus on all genres or select ones like bestsellers, literary fiction, children, etc. A storeroom to store excess stocks and packaging is a must.

Keep overheads low: Ideally, own the real estate. You have to be the store manager yourself; you cannot leave it to employees alone. Your staff should be willing to do heavy lifting with books coming in and out continuously!

Choose the right software: Inventory management is a highly technical process. Get it wrong, and you will lose track of stocks and financials. Negotiate terms with vendors smartly; these include discounts, credit periods, and returns policies.

Learn the biz: It would help to intern in a bookshop — not just to learn the ropes, but to know what you are signing up for before you are committed.

'...AND STILL MADE THE WRONG CHOICE'

The latest from the screenwriter of Bollywood blockbuster Om Shanti Om and author of Shah Rukh Khan's bestselling biography is a tale of scandal and intrigue

A delighted Aakash walked out of the cabin with a resolve to work harder to keep his job. That resolve lasted for all of three minutes before he lost the drive again, but he managed to keep himself awake till the lunch hour. As he walked towards the canteen while trying to recall the menu for the day, his eyes fell on Sharma, who invited Aakash to join him at the table. Sharma followed a practice of eating out with an employee every week – his way of keeping his doors accessible and facilitating one-on-one communication with all his employees. Aakash had been ducking his turn for a while now. Cursing his luck under his breath, Aakash complied with the invite with a smile.

Aakash had plans for meat for lunch, but the boss was a vegetarian. In an effort to not come across as insensitive, Aakash plainly copied Sharma's order for lunch – a Gujarati thali. After the initial pleasantries, they quickly ran into an awkward silence and only had their chewing noises for the background score. 'Sudha tells me that you have been saying some mean things about her in the office,' started Sharma.

Aakash choked on hearing that. Trying to disarm the threat with honesty, he said, 'Everyone in the office knows this already. She is kind of . . .'

'. . . stuck up,' completed Sharma.

'Exactly! I never knew you felt that way too,' said Aakash with an emphatic smile.

'Her disposition doesn't matter. She is loyal and good at what she does. I would appreciate it if you could keep any nasty comments away from the office premises.'

Loyal. Did he just say loyal? Did he just hint at something? Or was he thinking too much? 'Absolutely, sir. Will not repeat it.'

The rest of the meal went uneventfully. After the meal, Aakash wanted to hang back for a smoke.

'Thank you for the lunch, sir.'

'Not coming into office? Late as usual?'

'Coming in right after a smoke, sir.'

'A smoke; can I join you?

'Of course, sir.'

They went to the open smoking area situated inside the office complex. Aakash pulled out his brand of cigarettes from his pocket. 'Do you have a brand preference, sir?'

'No, I will just have whatever you are having.'

'I hear that you are quite the Casanova in the office,' Sharma said as he lit the cigarette.

'Not quite, sir. Just finding my way around.'

'I was one myself during my heyday.'

Aakash choked on the smoke upon hearing that. It was too much of a surprise, even for a seasoned smoker like him.

'I have seen that reaction from many. Just because you are a boss does not mean you cannot enjoy the simple things in life.'

Aakash was drawn into the conversation.

'I do not know what is wrong with today's generation. Back then, we had something called ethics. For instance, we never slept with a married woman.'

Aakash's eyes widened upon hearing the line. He knew!

Sharma took another puff of the cigarette and stubbed it under his shoes.

'Cigarettes need to be stubbed properly; else they could set the place on fire.'

Aakash did not get the oblique reference. Sharma seemed to be enjoying the charade.

'How was the four-storey jump?' he enquired, with a forced nonchalance in his tone.

The exes or husbands of women he had slept with had never called out Aakash till now. With a lack of experience, Aakash was clearly unequipped to handle the situation. Innocent until proven guilty, that would be a good logic to base the defence, thought Aakash.

'Sir, there must be a misunderstanding . . .'

There were times to speak and then there were times to not speak. The outcome could be radically different in each case. Aakash knew it and still made the wrong choice. Before he could complete the sentence, he felt a powerful force landing on his chin. It wasn't an amateur punch; it had been thrown around before. Aakash took the punch well and stood tall after it while Sharma's face was flushed with anger, ready to burst with a gentle prick. Aakash's immediate vicinity blurred quickly and he blacked out before his head could hit the ground, saving him from more pain.

THE FANTASTIC WORLD OF KASHI

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon
(Writer, comedian)

I watched the movie Kalki 2928 AD and was fascinated by the world they created. But the real reason for my excitement for the movie was their depiction of one of my favourite cities in the world – Kashi. A city with so much personality, it needs three names to encompass it – Kashi, Varanasi, and Benares. Some of my favourite human beings were born in the city – Ravi Shankar, Kabir, and Premchand. I had read books, watched movies, and lived with people from the city. I loved their usage of Hindi – refreshingly unlike the Urdu-filled lingo of Bollywood Hindi. In Telugu weddings, there is a custom called 'Kashi Yatra', where the groom decides to give up everything and sets out to the city of Kashi to live as a hermit. But the bride's brothers convince their brand-new brother-in-law to reconsider his decision and get married! (The hope of dowry probably makes the decision a little easier).

While I haven't been married, life got in the way of me making my own Kashi Yatra. When I finally embarked on my journey to the city, I left like a child visiting an amusement park of history. In mythology, Kashi is considered the first city where humans began living. Historians consider it one of the world's oldest continually inhabited cities. But for most others, it is a city to end life on a high. A reminder that our lives, our Instagram likes, and our cinematic dislikes – will all vanish with our bodies. This fatalistic nature reflects in the city's inhabitants too.

The streets run like veins in a central nervous system. The animals of Kashi seem wise and brooding. Cows chew their food in the middle of the roads, with the sagacity of Socrates. Dogs have a permanent look of confusion Confucius on their faces. Goats were unaware that Virat Kohli is now being associated with them, and continued to ruminate on life's important questions. Human beings, animals, and motor vehicles walked the streets of life with the calmness of Buddha on herbs.

The same sense of fatality is also reflected in the businessmen of Kashi. Paan shops only sold paan – no cigarettes, mints, or chai. Countless shops sold just one item – malai. The learned men running the shops made you wait for as long as they wanted. Shops were shut in the afternoons, but you could see the owners lounging on cots inside. Customers might be kings, but even kings come to Kashi to die. And what is a little time in the larger scheme of things, when everybody was going to finally end up in a ghat a few kilometers away? If Jeff Bezos visits Kashi, he will end the same-day delivery processes that he has perfected so well.

I spent an unhealthy amount of time on Manikarnika ghat and watched as bodies were burnt one after the other. It made me question my anxiety, my goals, and desires in life. Once I had feasted on the heavenly foods of Kashi, I returned to my hotel room and ordered a burger from an app. The delivery agent took 75 minutes to deliver the burger, completely upending the meaning of the term 'fast food'. Our scriptures say that when the world gets incorrigibly corrupted, Kalki avatar will descend on the earth and bring an end to the world as we know it. I hope Kalki spares the city of Kashi. A city where life and death pay rent and co-exist peacefully. A city where people begin their days with sweets – for what are calories in front of the Kaala Chakra?

BAA BAA BLACK SHEEP GETS A POWER-PACKED REIMAGINING IN KICHCHA SUDEEP'S MAX

The makers have unveiled the teaser, showcasing the star in an all-out action avatar

A still from the film

CE FEATURES

THE popular nursery rhyme 'Baa Baa Black Sheep' has been given a thrilling twist in the upcoming action film Max, starring Kichcha Sudeep and directed by Vijay Karthikeya. This reimagined version, unveiled in the Max teaser, brings Kichcha Sudeep's signature baritone voice as he delivers the lines with a dramatic flair that only he can. "Baa Baa Black Sheep, do you have any clue? No, sir, I just saw many boys flew," says the actor in the teaser.

These lines voiced deep and loud through the teaser are backed by adrenaline-pumping moments choreographed by stunt directors Chethan D Souza and Kevin Kumar. The teaser, showcasing Sudeep in an all-out action avatar, promises a visual treat for his fans.

Max, billed as a pan-India film, has generated immense excitement since its inception. Audiences are eagerly awaiting Kichcha Sudeep's return to the big screen since his 2022 film Vikrant Rona. While there is a strong buzz that the film is expected to hit theatres worldwide on August 15, its makers are yet to confirm the release date.

Produced by Kalaipuli S Thanu under V Creations and Kichcha Sudeep under the Kichcha Creations banner, Max also features an ensemble cast including Varalaxmi Sarathkumar, Samyukta Hornad, and Pramod Shetty. The music for Max is composed by Ajaneesh Loknath.

Mithra

'It feels good to be the new villain in demand'

CE FEATURES

MITHRA has entertained audiences with various roles on both the big screen and television over the last two decades. Appreciated for his versatility, especially in comedy and emotional characters, Mithra has now transformed his image as an actor. The actor has shed his innocent roles, and he is taking on a character with a negative shade in the upcoming Gurudatha Ganiga directorial Karavali, starring Prajwal Devaraj in the lead. Mithra's fierce look was captured by Abhimanyu Sadanand, the cinematographer of Karavali. Mithra sees this makeover as a turning point in his career.

He will also be seen in a negative role in Jadeshaa K Hampi's next film, tentatively titled VK 21, starring Vijay Kumar, and another Kannada film. Additionally, he has been chosen as a villain for a Tamil film. "I was focused on comedy roles for a long time, but now I want to shine as a fierce villain in Sandalwood. I'm glad that my new look, with a long white beard and hair, has caught the attention of many filmmakers who are approaching me for different types of roles. It feels good to be the new villain in demand," says Mithra, adding, "An artist should never stick to one role. We must adapt ourselves according to our age."

Charan Raj ropes in a Nagarahole tribal troupe for Bheema song 'Boom Boom Bangalore'

CE FEATURES

VIJAY KUMAR, along with music director Charan Raj, who made waves with songs like 'Bad Boys,' 'I Love You Kane,' and 'Don't Worry Baby Chinnamma,' is set to strike a chord with their latest track, 'Boom Boom Bangalore'. The film Bheema is set for release on August 9, with this particular track dropping on July 19.

Interestingly, the song features the vocals of 30 members of a tribal troupe from near Nagarahole. "This song, in their dialect, refers to Bangalore, but the lyrics are a hybrid. It's a travel song that gives you a feel of the geography with the hook of 'Boom Boom Bangalore,' says musician Charan Raj. He adds, "This troupe usually entertains travellers who visit Nagarahole through their songs, and this is the first time they have lent their voices to a film song. This track, with its folk lyrics, reveals a different side of Bangalore."

"While every song from the Bheema album has trended, paving the way to popular reels, the release of 'Boom Boom Bangalore' hints at another hit for Bheema," opines director Vijay Kumar.

Young talent Ashwini stars alongside Vijay in Bheema, along with many young artists making their debut through the film. It is jointly produced by Krishna Sarthak and Jagadeesh. "The song releasing on Friday is a lot of fun and will lift the film to another level. None of the songs in the film is unnecessary; they all fit the context," says Krishna Sarthak, who is excited about knowing that the film is in great demand among distributors across Karnataka, giving it the vibe of a grand theatrical release.

Team Back Benchers

'INDIA IS FULL OF BACKBENCHERS'

...says director BR Rajshekar as he and a bunch of young talents share a fun insight into college life and debut experiences with upcoming Back Benchers

A SHARADHAA

COLLEGE life is a whirlwind of experiences, where every classroom has its unique mix of personalities. Backbenchers stand out from the rest with their mischievous charm and rebellious spirit, and BR Rajshekar's upcoming film is set to capture this timeless theme. Billed as a comedy entertainer about college life, Back Benchers is a tale of four friends who get pushed to the back row of class. Transitioning from top students to troublemakers, their new backbench life is filled with pranks, unexpected friendships, and crazy escapades. The director succinctly describes Back Benchers as a film that offers "a new perspective on life through their wild adventures."

"College day dramas always make a mark among young audiences, and I want a film like Back Benchers to join the ranks of popular Kannada films like Kirik Party and Hostel Hudugaru Bekagiddare," says the director while adding, "This comedy entertainer is designed to evoke campus nostalgia."

The film's music, composed by Nakul Abhyankar, features seven songs, including one by Vijay Prakash, which is expected to be a highlight.

Made under the (PP) Productions banner, Back Benchers director Rajshekar, influenced by the film 3 Idiots, credits his good friend and veteran actor Suchendra Prasad for making the film possible. "Suchendra Prasad was instrumental in auditioning young talents and bringing my vision to life. Prasad also plays a pivotal role, which more or less represents my real life. I've done five films, and Back Benchers is both a heartfelt and challenging project," Rajshekhar shares.

As the film gears up for its release on July 19, we had the chance to sit down with the fresh and talented cast making their debut with it. They shared their experiences, the bonds they formed while shooting for Back Benchers, and their thoughts on the Kannada film industry.

The ensemble cast includes Jathin Aryan, Manya Gowda, Namitha Gowda, Akash Ranjan, Narasimha Murthy, Shashank Simha, Anusha Suresh, Deepika Chaturthi Raj, and Manoj Shetty. Akash Ranjan reflects on the transition from being a top student, saying, "Check with teachers even today, and they first remember the names of Backbenchers." Echoing Akash's sentiment, Dhanush Suresh quips, "Everyone can score 100 percent, but the one who threw a chalk is mostly identified. Students don't deliberately become backbenchers; certain qualities lead them there."

When asked how they related to their roles, Manya Gowda said, "Since we were just fresh out of college when we got auditions for this film, we could relate to our roles and perform naturally. It felt like completing another degree. We never realised we were acting. Rajshekar sir conducted a workshop for a year, knew what suited us best and fit us into those roles accordingly." Discussing the bond between the cast, Ranjan shares, "College leaves students with many memories and friends. The same goes for Back Benchers."

Manya adds, "In a day, I spent 16 hours with my co-actors; we have become inseparable. I might get back to them even if I work on a different film. We have fought and spent the best days together; they are my best friends."The whole team echoed the sentiment: "Back Benchers is a memory, more like a master's degree."

Jathin Aryan mentions, "The bond we shared was incredible. Each newcomer was serious about acting and took a chance by participating in the auditions." Dhanush, who quit his IT job to pursue acting, is aware of the booming Malayalam industry. And Jatin adds, "In Kannada, either your father should produce the film, or you have to find your way."

Sharing their thoughts on the future of Kannada cinema, Jathin says, "Bengaluru is quite diverse and biased." Along with Dhanush, he adds that Mysuru could be the next best film hub. "Kannada films are getting diluted due to the influx of films from other languages. We should go back five years to when Kannada was given the best preference," Dhanush says.

In conclusion, when asked how Back Benchers resonated with their college experiences, the team responds, saying, "Backbenchers know how to handle trouble and lead successful lives," with Deepika Chaturthi Raj adding, "As a frontbencher, I feel they hesitate to take risks, unlike backbenchers." Shashank Simha signs off, "When, we met MP, Tejesvi Surya, recently, and in his opinion, those who were frontbenchers have left the nation, while backbenchers are the ones who stay here and work. So India is full of backbenchers."

BR Rajshekar
